THE 1952 A.N.A. CONVENTION SALE CATALOG

Back in 1952, in conjunction with three other local dealers, we compiled a six-session auction sale catalog for the annual A.N.A. Convention.

Approximately 8" x 10" in size, this catalog contained 4,880 lots and 48 quality plates, making it probably one of the largest and most important contemporary sale presentations.

In describing the United States and Canadian lots, we attempted to give all the pertinent information and data possible, making this catalog a true reference work.

Collectors of:

- American Numismatic Literature
- Canadian Medals and Tokens
- Early United States Silver Dollars
- U. S. Mint Assay Medals
- United States Large Cents
- Early American Coins
- U. S. Pattern, Trial and Experimental Silver Dollars
- Leshor or Referendum Dollars
- Territorial Gold Patterns and Trials, Assay bars

will all find this catalog of inestimable value, full of real, easily read and understandable information.

Last year our printer discovered a quantity of these fine reference volumes, which cost $2.70 each to print and bind, nearly seven years ago.

In line with our policy of disseminating numismatic information (a well informed customer is our best customer), we will send, postpaid, a mint copy of this catalog, complete with the revised, large size price list, for only $5.00.

THE SECRET KEY TO NUMISMATICS IS KNOWLEDGE!

$5.00 invested in facts and background, can be worth much more to you. Take our word for it!

NATIONAL COIN WEEK — 1959

National Coin Week, sponsored by the American Numismatic Association, is April 12 through April 18 this year. This event affords us the opportunity to display to the public the historic, educational and recreational hobby of coin collecting. It is also the time to recruit new members to local, state and regional organizations and to the American Numismatic Association. There are many clubs and members who have joined the A.N.A. in the past year, and they should help to make this the biggest and best National Coin Week ever held.

Each club should appoint an NCW Chairman as soon as possible. Begin now to lay plans for public displays and publicity via all news sources such as radio, television and newspapers. The four classes are as follows:

Class A — clubs of 50 or more members

Class B — clubs of 25 to 49 members

Class C — clubs of less than 25 members

Individual Class — for all single entries

Handsome plaques will be awarded to the highest ranking clubs in each division and to the top individual winners. Appropriate certificates will be given to each participant. I urge individuals to participate as well as the clubs.

Contest rules will be as last year's, and these will be mailed to all corporate clubs around March 1. Members desiring to enter the individual class should request entry blanks from the General Chairman before April 1. If you have not received a blank by then, please contact me. These blanks must be used to enter competition. Anyone wishing to participate noncompetitively may do so, and should send a report of what he has done; it need not be on an official entry blank. Individual entrants should not report activities held in conjunction with, and reported by, an entered club.

The theme for National Coin Week 1959 will be announced in the February issue. However, you needn't wait to get started. Any numismatic material or information is welcome and suitable. Many fail to exhibit or compete because their collections do not fit in with the theme. All displays count! Plan your displays and publicity in advance; get photos, stories and exhibit locations lined up as soon as possible. I will try to get ideas to you in forthcoming issues of The Numismatist.

A.N.A. President Oscar Dodson has appointed the Saginaw Valley Coin Club as Awards Committee. Awards Chairman is John S. Northcott, Saginaw, Mich. The Saginaw club won first place in NCW Class B, in 1958, and will be glad to pass on any tips or information that might be helpful. As General Chairman, I shall do everything I can to help any club or individual, and will try to answer all questions or furnish information requested. Get busy, appoint that chairman, and make plans NOW!

LATIN AMERICAN PORTRAITS

By

COURTNEY L. COFFING, A.N.A. No. 14439

BURTON SAXTON wrote in The Numismatist in March, 1943, first quoting from Wordsworth,

"'A primrose by a river's brim
A yellow primrose was to him,
And it was nothing more.'

"For many years we have had the definite conviction that a collector who is satisfied merely to accumulate is barely on speaking terms with his coins, though he may have lived with them for half a century. He has not established that closer relationship that comes of knowledge of their historical background, of the influences and events which brought them into being, of the origins, significance and implications of the inscriptions, and of the place in history allocated to those rulers whose portraits they bear. The mythology so constantly in evidence on ancient pieces, and the later heraldry, with all its fascinating intricacy, are to him likewise remote and without appeal. All this, for no other reason than that of lack of initiative or incentive. He is content with, let us say, merely the first chapter in a book of amazing richness; granting his claim that he has found enjoyment within his self-imposed limits, nevertheless it is meager compared with the possibilities within his reach."

Certainly a passing knowledge of the biography of the person portrayed upon a coin adds to a closer, living relationship with our coins, and helps them become alive and more meaningful to us. We readily accept the portraits of the persons portrayed upon our own coinage, and each of us could relate some remarkable events from the life of the person so portrayed.

But many of us are interested in foreign coins, or could be, if we could make them living and interesting and worthwhile. Why did some of these portraits appear? Did the life of the person portrayed deserve such an honor? This question began circulating in my mind some eight years ago. My immediate interests were in the Latin American field. A check soon revealed that some 70 persons, not including ruling European monarchs such as Wilhelmina, George V and VI, and Elizabeth II, had been so honored. Eleven of these portrait biographies have been presented to you, from the Central American field. Due to the lapse in time, perhaps they will be repeated at the end of the series, with new additions where possible.

Who are the remaining persons to be discussed? A quick review of our own portraits on coins of the United States reveals foreign rulers, explorers, generals, presidents, statesmen, colonists, musicians, and scientists. These, too are the Latin Americans portrayed upon their coins.

Were all the men great? No. Some were depraved caudillos, dictators who lived dangerous but often short lives. There were love affairs, murders, and plunder of the treasuries. But also, there were those who loved liberty so much they died for it; the man who aided revolutionaries in return for freed slaves wherever the revolutionary went; the Walter Reed of Brazil, the counterpart of Gershwin, the statesmen, jurists and poets. Sometimes the revolutionary projects were ill-advised, poorly timed, or inadequately planned, or their feats years ahead of their time, but each and every character becomes alive and speaks to eternity from his engraving upon the coin of his homeland.

As each biographical sketch comes to an end, there will be a short description of some of the coins of the protagonist. Some of the coinage is too extensive to describe each and every piece in detail, but mention will be made of the countries, denominations, metals, etc., of the portrayed persons. Some men, like Columbus, have been honored by their portraits upon the coins of as many as four countries. Others have had the denomination of money named for them, such as the boliviano. Surely such devotion to a national hero represents an interesting and worthwhile life.

BRAVE NEW WORLD

Christopher Columbus shown on the Colombian 50¢ of 1892

The brave, new world Columbus found obstructing his path from Spain to Cathay is really not new, nor was Columbus the first from outside the hemisphere to find it. Nordic explorers and Orientals had been landing on the lonely shores for centuries. Though the discovery of Brazil is usually accounted a pure accident, many believe the landing (1500) by Cabral was an anticipated, calculated event.

Each and every person coming to the new colonies was an explorer, at least for a couple of centuries. Some came from a sense of adventure; others to escape debts, families, prison, etc., in the old world. Private capital, with the blessings of royalty, provided most of the funds, though the royal fifth was always set aside. Explorers lived and died; kings grew wealthy and merchants prospered—yet by the time the colonies gained independence none of these people realized the wealth and possibilities of what they had found and barely exploited. A sketch of this period of history cannot pass without mentioning the faithful clerics who came to minister to the heathen; to the treatment of the Indians by the draft system, and the final complicating factor of injecting the Negro slave issue into the questions already confused by politics, diplomacy, and the raiders of the Spanish Main.

As the industrial revolution waxed and waned in Europe, bringing the new concept of the worth of man, the eventual revolutions in France and subsequently, the thirteen colonies, the colonial satellites of the European nations in Latin America were not ignoring the new signs. Lack of interest, outright exploitation, disregard for human rights and denial of a voice in their local governments brought about rumblings of discontent. This finally erupted into a violence which threw off the distant ruler but often buried their own lands under ashes and lava of corruption, anarchy, and civil strife, which has not completely subsided to this day. Hardly a month can pass without our reading of an attempt to overthrow a legally constituted government in Latin America by violent, illegal means. And surprisingly enough, the batting average of the revolutionaries is moderately high.

Who were these explorers, revolutionaries, and leaders of these countries? The scientists, musicians, poets? The sailors, aviators, and captains of industry? Yes, the "brave new world" had them all. And they all express themselves to us, and speak to us — from our coin cabinets. As we progress in this series our coins will take on a new meaning and series which were previously neglected or coins which have been discarded will take on a new interest and assume an important part of the collection. For portrait coins are not cold bits of metal — they are men and history speaking to us if we but wave the magic wand of knowledge and breathe life anew into them.

CALARCA

Calarca portrayed on a 10 centavo piece of Colombia, 1952

Calarca was the chief of the aborigines of the Pijaos who resisted tenaciously and valiantly the intrusion of the Spaniards into the area now occupied by Colombia. His tribe held the Spanish forces off for four years. Finally Calarca fell in battle against the troops led by the Spanish General Juan de Bierza, at the hands of the Indian chief, Baltasar, who was helping the intruders. The death of Calarca occurred about 1610.

In 1952 Colombia honored Calarca upon its 10 centavo coins. The coin was of nickel, 18 millimeters in diameter. On the obverse the bust is right, in a feather headdress, and CALARCA. On the reverse is REPUBLICA DE COLOMBIA, "B" mint mark and the date.

SIXTY-EIGHTH A.N.A. CONVENTION

PROSPECTIVE dealers and exhibitors at the Sixty-eighth American Numismatic Association convention should make space reservations early to avoid disappointment, is the word from Portland. Early interest in these two phases of the annual gathering, August 26-29, are pleasing to the chairmen concerned, but also gives them a problem.

"This is in no way an attempt to 'scare' anyone into making early reservations," said William N. Worth, convention general chairman. "We just want to be honest with all concerned. It looks to us now as though we may have a space problem, although we long ago reserved two huge rooms in the Multnomah hotel — the Grand Ballroom and a twin, the Empire Room. There's still room left, but early indications are that all this space will be taken long before the convention."

Inquiries regarding bourse space should be made to John R. Slusher, 510 SW Fifth Ave., Portland 5, Ore. Exhibits Chairman is Lloyd L. Ruff, 810 NE Fifty-second Ave., Portland 13.

Since Portland, which ordinarily is filled with out-of-state visitors during the tourist season, this year expects additional thousands of visitors daily at its summer-long Oregon Centennial Exposition, it would be wise for anyone planning to attend the A.N.A. convention to make room reservations early.

"Just let me know your needs," says the housing chairman, Bert D. Allumbaugh, 2844 NE Thirty-seventh Ave., Portland 12.

Host this year is the Oregon Numismatic Society, organized in 1936 to make it one of the oldest organizations in the Pacific Northwest. Twice in recent years this live wire group has been host to the Pacific Northwest Numismatic Association convention. The experience gained will be applied toward making the 1959 A.N.A. convention a memorable one. As a step in this direction, chairmen and committee members prepared advance plans, wherever possible, for consideration at meetings on December 28-29 with Lewis M. Reagan, A.N.A. General Secretary.

COINS WE SHOULD KNOW

BALBOA: The monetary unit of Panama, was named for Vasco Nuñez de Balboa, discoverer of the Pacific Ocean. Fractions of the BALBOA are struck.

BARBARIAN COINS: Imitations of Greek and Roman coins which were struck by the barbaric tribes in Gaul and Britain. The coins usually imitated were the Athenian coins of the latter part of the fifth century B.C., the coins of Philip II of Macedonia in Gaul which were in turn imitated in Britain and finally imitations of Roman Republic and Roman Imperial coins.

BAR CENT: A copper trial or pattern piece of the United States, undated, but supposed to have been released about 1776. It derives its name from the fact that one side of the coin is completely covered by 13 horizontal bars.

BAWBEE: A billon coin of Scotland first issued by James V. The earliest BAWBEE was valued at one and a half pence but during the reign of Charles II the value was raised to six pence. It probably derives its name from the French bas billon.

ALTERED NOTES OF THE SOUTHERN BANK OF GEORGIA AT BAINBRIDGE

By

WILLIAM H. DILLISTIN, A. N. A. No. 8527

MORE than a hundred years ago when paper currency issued by several hundred state banks constituted the principal medium of exchange in this country, altered bank notes circulated in great numbers. They constitute a field of numismatics that has had little attention, due somewhat to the fact that many latter day handlers of obsolete bank notes are unaware that this particular type of note exists.

Altered notes must not be confused with counterfeit, raised, or spurious notes, as in most instances altered bank notes had their origin mainly in genuine notes of defunct and wildcat banks. Such notes were acquired at little or no cost by crooks and nefarious individuals of those early days who very cleverly, in most instances, removed the name and location of the bank of issue and inserted thereon the name and location of a bank of good reputation and standing. In some cases the crooks would acquire original plates and alter the bank name thereon to that of a reputable bank. Notes of The Southern Bank of Georgia, at Bainbridge, referred to in this account, come in the altered note category rather than those printed from altered plates, and the notes of that bank appear to have been more widely altered and circulated than those of any other bank.

Bainbridge is located in the southwestern part of Georgia about 190 miles south of Atlanta and about 35 miles northwest of Tallahassee, Fla. The 1860 federal census, taken about three years after The Southern Bank commenced business, shows the State of Georgia as having been sparsely settled at that time. Savannah, the largest city and a seaport, about 215 miles northeast of Bainbridge, had a population of 22,292 in 1860, while Atlanta the next largest city had a population of only 9,554. The Town of Bainbridge according to the 1860 census was reported as having a population of only 1,869 of whom more than 50% were slaves.

Inception of the Bank

The Southern Bank of Georgia, to be located at Bainbridge in Decatur County, was created by an act of the legislature of Georgia, approved March 5, 1856. The Bainbridge Argus announced on July 22, 1856, that it had learned that the stock of The Southern Bank had been subscribed by citizens of Georgia and that the bank would go into operation with $50,000 in coin paid in as soon as the engraving of its notes could be completed. It stated further that the location of the institution in southern Georgia was an important acquisition to that portion of the state, Alabama and Florida, and that the officers of the bank had not as yet been selected, but would be such that the community could rely upon them for their integrity and honesty.

William H. Dillistin, Paterson, N. J., is a long-time member of the American Numismatic Association, which he joined in 1941. He is widely known for his studies and research on state bank notes, U. S. national bank notes and counterfeit detectors.

A statement of The Southern Bank dated March 16, 1857, indicates that it commenced business on September 27, 1856. The Bainbridge Argus announced that the bank, "... goes into operation under favorable circumstances by the payment into the bank, by the stockholders, of fifty thousand dollars in gold coin as required by the provisions of the charter. . . ." The original officers were N. L. Cloud, president, and B. H. Gee, cashier, with a board of five directors, not named, although they were said to be safe, reliable men of good business capacity.

Notes Imprints and Dates

Bank notes of The Southern Bank appear to have been issued in two distinct series. Those of the first series bear the engraver's imprint of both, "Bald, Cousland and Co. of Philadelphia," and "Baldwin, Bald, & Cousland, New York," and were issued in the denominations of one, two, five and ten dollars; while those of the second series and later type bear the imprint of "Danforth, Wright & Co. New York & Phila," and were issued in the denominations of one and two dollars.

Several unaltered notes of the first series were observed with the date "Oct. 1, 1856," handwritten, except for the digits "18," while several original notes of the second series were observed bearing the engraved date of "March 1st 1858."

Description of Notes

Notes of both series are described in The Descriptive Register of Genuine Bank Notes (p.121), published by Gynne & Day, Bankers, New York, in 1859, in the following manner:

SOUTHERN BANK OF GEORGIA,
Bainbridge

The first, fourth, fifth, and sixth items are descriptive of notes of the first series, while the second and third items are descriptive of notes of the second series.

Signatures

A two dollar note of the first series has been observed with the signatures of B. H. Gee (cashier) and N. L. Cloud (president), while five dollar notes of the first series have been observed with two different signature combinations, those of Gee and Cloud as referred to above, and H. H. Hubbard (cashier) and G. W. Lewis (president). A ten dollar note of the first series was observed bearing the signatures of Gee and Cloud (See C-Plate I). Several notes of the second series were observed bearing the signatures of H. H. Hubbard (cashier) and G. W. Lewis (president).

Public Confidence

Banks in those days did not enjoy the confidence of the public as they do today and it was not long after this bank opened for business that evidence of skepticism appeared in the public press. The Bainbridge Argus of December 16, 1856, carried a story in reference to an article in the Atlanta Intelligencer earlier that month which appeared to have raised some question as to the reputation and standing of The Southern Bank. The Argus stated that so far as it could learn the Bank had been managed with caution and prudence, and had furnished to the local merchants and business men all the exchange on New York and other places desired. They stated further that the bank had discounted liberally at all times for those who have asked for accommodations. In conclusion it reported on the above mentioned date that:

It is paying out its own circulation here at home, and has redeemed every dollar presented at its counter in coin or any other funds desired—and has made arrangements, as we understand, for the redemption of its notes at Macon at par, for convenience of any who may hold them in the up country.

Like all other similar institutions this Bank will have to contend with opposition until the public becomes satisfied implicit confidence can be reposed in it. Up to this time we have seen nothing to justify anyone distrusting its soundness or solvency.

The Bainbridge Argus continued to be a staunch defender of The Southern Bank when on January 13, 1857, it commented on an individual attacked by the Atlanta Intelligencer. The Argus stated it was informed that said individual was not connected in any way with a bank in East Tennessee at the time of its failure, and that the Intelligencer is mistaken in regard to The Southern Bank having an agency in Tennessee flooding the country with its bills.

While the individual referred to was not mentioned by name, a report of The Southern Bank under date of March 16, 1857, shows one R. W. Hubbard to be the holder of five shares of stock of the bank (H. H. Hubbard, the president held 1975 shares) and The Merchants & Bankers Register—1857, shows one R. W. Hubbard to be the president of the Bank of Trenton, Tennessee.

The Argus went on further to comment:

If at any time, we should discover the least symptoms of failure, or believe that there are grounds for apprehension, we shall certainly notify the public of the same, regardless of consequences to those connected with the Bank. This section of the State stands greatly in need of a Banking Institution and we would thank our contemporaries to keep rumors to themselves—rumors that are calculated to injure materially the only bank in our midst, and confine themselves to what they know and believe to be facts.

Bank of Wildcat Species

The Bainbridge Argus again came to the defense of The Southern Bank when on March 18, 1857, it referred to a correspondent of the Albany Patriot endorsing a statement of the Augusta Chronicle & Sentinel that The Southern Bank "... is of the wildcat species." The Argus stated in part:

In reply to the charge of being a wild cat . . . , we must in justice to the Bank, state that its entire business is done at home—it has no agency at remote points, to give circulation to its bills—here they are paid out and here when demanded, specie has been paid for them at its counter.

That her bills were "viewed with suspicion" at the commencement of its operations, is undoubtedly true—Repeated and heavy drafts were made upon its coffers—but failing to make an impression and the Bank growing in confidence, these runs, we believe have ceased, except when made by rival Banks, with whose circulation The Southern Bank interferes and of those in their employ. . . . The bad odor in which this bank once stood and from which it has not yet entirely recovered, we believe, is owing to the fact that its largest stockholder was not until time of organization a citizen of our State and the additional fact that the charter had been the subject of speculation before it came into his hands. . . .

We are sensible of our duty to the public and the responsibilities of our position we therefore reiterate our promise to notify the public of the slightest reasonable grounds for suspicion either of its solvency, or of the purity of intention of its officers — we now have no fear of either.

We cannot overlook the fact that notwithstanding the foregoing comments that The Southern Bank had then been in operation less than six months. Four months later, Van Court's Counterfeit Detector, and Bank Note List (Philadelphia) for July, 1857, indicated The Southern Bank notes were "unsaleable."

Statement of Condition

In The Bainbridge Argus for March 18, 1857, may also be found a statement of condition of The Southern Bank as of March 16, 1857. Its style differs little from most bank statements of those days when banks were "banks of issue and discount" and deposits were insignificant in amount. The bank as of the above date had operated less than six months, and its notes discounted amounted to $75,150, bills in circulation were $32,103, and its liability to depositors was only $9,393. As required under the charter, it published the following list of stockholders together with the number of shares held:

H. H. Hubbard	1,975 shares
N. L. Cloud	10 shares
Richard Sims	5 shares
R. D. McElveen	5 shares
R. W. Hubbard	5 shares
Total	2,000 shares

It is interesting to note that Richard Sims, listed above, is the only stockholder whose name is found in the act to incorporate the bank.

The controversy continued with The Bainbridge Argus on April 1, 1857 going into a rather detailed analysis of the March 16th statement of the bank about which critical comment had appeared in the Albany Patriot. Its ardent defense of the bank continued when it followed up that analysis with the following remarks:

We have never been until recently, entirely satisfied of the soundness of this bank, yet we could say nothing against it. . . . But we now declare from the most indubitable evidence, that there is not a sounder banking institution in the State of Georgia. . . . It is due to our readers, to Southwestern Georgia, to the bank, to express the opinion which we have formed from uncontrovertible facts, that The Southern Bank of Georgia, at Bainbridge, is a safe and reliable institution, and should be sustained by every friend to this section of the State, and we defy the editor of The Patriot, or any one else, to produce the slightest testimony to sustain the charge that it is not a safe and reliable institution.

Gaining Confidence

Favorable references to The Southern Bank continued when The Bainbridge Argus on June 17, 1857, stated among other things, that, "We are pleased to learn that this deserving institution is gradually gaining the confidence of the public abroad." The following statement regarding The Southern Bank that had previously appeared in The Independent Blade, of Newman, Ga. (about 165 miles north of Bainbridge), was also published:

This institution is set down by our friend of the Chronicle & Sentinel as a "wild cat." We happen, in this, as in some other matters, to differ with our erudite contemporary. We believe the bank perfectly reliable, and sound, and would as soon take it [its notes] as the Mechanics Bank of Augusta [about 225 miles northeast of Bainbridge]. We are personally acquainted with some of the stockholders, and they are gentlemen who would not, knowingly, engage in anything that had the slightest taint of dishonesty about it. We take it at par for all that is owing us. Send it along some of you delinquent subscribers.

The Argus as of the same date (June 17, 1857), went on to state:

We also see in Thompson's (N. Y.) Bank Note Reporter, of June 6th., that this bank is placed on equal footing with the best banks in the State of New York. The editor of the reporter says: "The Southern Bank of Georgia, having made arrangements for the redemption of its notes in the City of Savannah, we give it a place in our quotations."

It will be noted heretofore that Van Court's Detector for July, 1857, indicated that notes of The Southern Bank were "unsaleable."

The statement of condition of the bank as of September 22, 1857, after one year of operation was found in House [of Representatives] Document 958, and the same comments as previously expressed with respect to the statement, after six months operation, still applied. Loans and discounts had increased to $89,269, while bills in circulation had increased to $42,990, and deposits of individuals and others amounted to the insignificant sum of $2,403.

Newspaper files available reveal no information regarding The Southern Bank from June, 1857 to January 27, 1858, when The Bainbridge Argus announced that, "Bills on this bank, will be received, at Par, for all dues to this office." Two months later, L. S. Lawrence & Co.'s New York Bank Note List for March 3, 1858, classified notes of The Southern Bank of Georgia as being "unsaleable."

Bank Suspended

Subsequent to the issue of The Bainbridge Argus of February 24, 1858, no newspaper files were found in Bainbridge until the publication of The Southern Georgian of Bainbridge, which first appeared late in April of the same year. The April 30, 1858 issue of that paper carried this terse and sad news: "Petty Jury Number 1 have decided in the Superior Court now in session here, that The Southern Bank is no Bank."

No further information regarding the failure of the bank was found until nearly three months later when on July 23, 1858, The Southern Georgian carried the following story:

DEFUNCT

The Southern Bank, of Georgia, located here has again suspended, no gold or bills of other banks being in the vaults to redeem her bills. There is not at present, living in the county either a stockholder or a Director of the Bank — Cashier gone — President gone — who will feed the kitten during their absence?

It will be noted in the above article that the statement is made that The Southern Bank has again suspended. No reference was found in available newspapers or elsewhere of a previous suspension.

Reopening

The next reference to this bank appeared in The Southern Georgian of November 12, 1858, and read as follows:

As will be seen in our advertising columns, this institution has recommenced operations. We are informed that Hubbard, the first and late owner of the charter has sold out the privileges of the charter to two or three gentlemen in Illinois, who, we understand, do not desire to circulate any bills for the present in this section of the country.

The advertisement referred to above consisted of the following statement and list of stockholders:

Notes Illustrated — First Series

Illustrations of original and altered notes of the first series of The Southern Bank are shown on Plates I and II. Notes of the denominations of two dollars, five dollars, and ten dollars shown on Plate I are reproductions of original notes, while those shown on Plate II the facing page, are altered notes of the two, five, and one dollar denominations. No altered notes of the ten dollar denomination were found and no original notes of the one dollar denomination were found.

TWO DOLLAR NOTES

Note A, Plates I, II

The two dollar note of the first series of The Southern Bank of Georgia presents an interesting item in the field of altered notes. The original (Note A, Plate I), shows an excellent portrait of Andrew Jackson, while in the center the reclining woman leans against a shield upon which is depicted a cotton plant, both of which are distinctly Southern features. In the ornamental oval on the lower right end, the coat of arms of the State of Georgia is reproduced. The signatures of the officers of the bank are those previously referred to, while the date, "Oct. 1, 1856," is only four days after the bank first opened for business.

In the altered counterpart of this two dollar note (Note A, Plate II), there is illustrated a note that purports to be the issue of The Sussex Bank of Newton, N. J. It will be observed that the word GEORGIA, on the upper margin at the right side of the original note has been erased and NEW JERSEY has been substituted. The Spencerian THE directly above the letters TH in SOUTHERN, in the center of the original note, has been erased as well as the name, SOUTHERN BANK, and THE SUSSEX BANK, all in one line, has been substituted. Of GEORGIA, directly under the title of the bank in the original, has also been erased and OF NEWTON has been inserted. At the lower left end, the location of the bank, BAINBRIDGE, has also been erased and SUSSEX CO. has been imprinted thereon. It will be observed that the dates on both notes are identical and the handwritten portion has the appearance of being that of the same person.

No attempt has been made to change the name of the president on the altered counterpart, the signature of "N. L. Cloud," appearing on both notes, while the name of "B. H. Gee," the then cashier has been erased, and the name of "S. D. Morford," the then cashier of The Sussex Bank, has been inserted thereon.

FIVE DOLLAR NOTES

Note B, Plates I, II

The original note of the five dollar denomination of the first series (Note B, Plate I), has as the main identification features, STATE OF GEORGIA, and the name of the bank near the top of the note. It also has at the bottom of the note and directly in the center, the coat of arms of the State of Georgia, in much reduced size than that shown on the two dollar note (Note A, Plate I). It will be observed that the handwritten portion of the date "Oct. 1, 1856," is identical with that shown on the original as well as the altered two dollar note (Note A, Plate I). The signatures on this note are identical to those shown on the original two dollar note of this series.

The altered counterpart of the five dollar note illustrated (Note B, Plate II), purports to be the issue of The New Castle County Bank of Odessa, Del. The word, GEORGIA, in the upper right hand corner of an original note (Note B, Plate I), has been erased and DELAWARE, substituted. The prominent title of The Southern Bank across the center of the note at the top has been entirely erased and THE NEW CASTLE CO. BANK has been substituted. The word BAINBRIDGE in the lower left hand corner has also been erased and the word ODESSA has been substituted. While these alterations may not be easily detected in the illustration, they are obvious to the naked eye when the note is carefully examined.

Another observation with respect to this particular note is that the check letter "A" on the original note, (Note B, Plate I), appears just before the title of the bank and directly thereafter. On the altered counterpart (Note B, Plate II), the left leg of the letter "A" to the right of the title of the bank has been partly erased making it appear to read as check letter "I."

The altered one dollar note, (Note C, Plate II), conforms to the description of the original note as heretofore given.

Note C on Plate I, illustrates an original ten dollar note of The Southern Bank of Georgia, and as previously stated, no altered notes of that denomination were found. Reference, however, is hereafter made to an altered note of this denomination described in a then current bank note reporter.

Notes Illustrated — Second Series

Notes of this series as heretofore stated appear to have been issued only in the denominations of one and two dollars. All originals observed bear the signatures of R. M. Hubbard (cashier) and G. W. Lewis (president). The date engraved on the originals as previously stated is "Mar. 1st, 1858."

ONE DOLLAR NOTE

Note A, Plate III

This is a well engraved note of good workmanship, printed in black ink except for the ornamental work surrounding the denominational counters in each of the upper corners and the words ONE DOLLAR, directly under the title of the bank which are maroon in color.

They appear to have been issued from a four-subject plate, with the first three notes of the one dollar denomination and the fourth note of the denomination of two dollars. The check letters in the order A-B-C-A are as usually found on similar sheets of notes printed during the same period. One dollar notes of this series have been observed bearing all three letters while all two dollar notes bear the check letter "A."

No particular identification features are found on this original note (Note A, Plate III). It bears in large type, the title of the bank, and in smaller type in the center of the note under the title, the location.

An altered counterpart (Note A, Plate IV) of the above note bears the check letter "A." THE SOUTHERN BANK and OF GEORGIA, directly below, have been erased from an original note and THE SUSSEX BANK OF NEWTON have been imprinted thereon. In this particular instance these alterations have been very cleverly accomplished, which is not the case in many altered notes. As to the signatures, it will be noted that no attempt has been made to alter the name of Hubbard, the cashier, while a couple of letters have been added to disguise the name of Lewis, the president.

TWO DOLLAR NOTE

Note B, Plate III

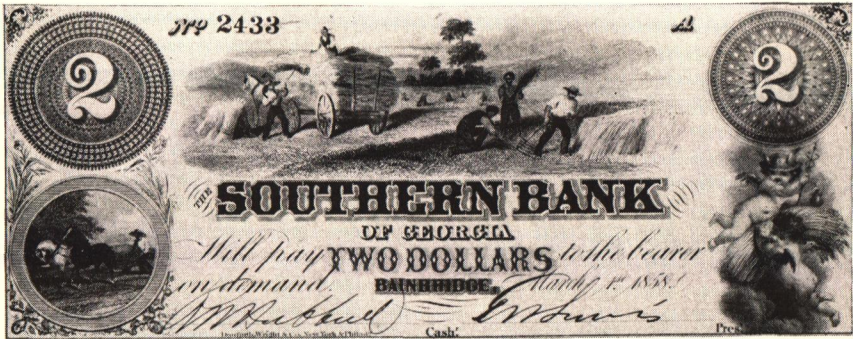

This is likewise a well engraved specimen of a note of this period (Note B, Plate III). The same comments as to color of printing as attributed to the one dollar note apply here.

The altered counterpart (Note B, Plate IV) again purports to be the issue of The Sussex Bank of Newton. The alterations have been made in the same manner as described above. The signature of Hubbard, the cashier, has been erased and the name of the then cashier of The Sussex Bank, S. D. Morford, has been substituted. To the name of President Lewis of The Southern Bank, a couple of letters have been added as was done in the one dollar note (Note A, Plate IV). A careful examination of the purported signatures of the president on these two altered notes (A and B), could lead one to believe that the alterations in both instances were made by the same person.

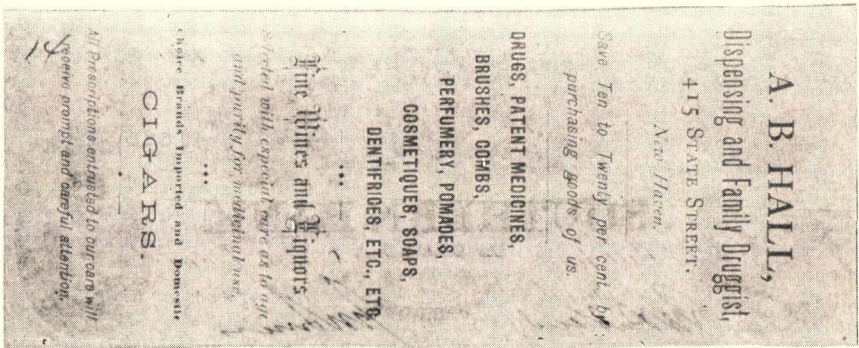

Note C, Plate IV, is an original note of The Southern Bank of Georgia that has been altered to the Gloucester County Bank of Woodbury, N. J. No attempt has been made to remove the signature of Cashier Hubbard, while the name of the then president, Wm. R. Tatum, of the Gloucester County Bank, has been substituted for that of G. W. Lewis.

Item C, Plate III, shows the reverse of an original one dollar note of the second series of The Southern Bank of Georgia. It bears the advertisement of a family druggist in New Haven, Conn. It is not unlikely that this druggist came upon a large number of these notes, at little cost, had his advertisement imprinted thereon and freely distributed them to his customers and others as souvenirs.

Size of Notes

The six notes illustrated on Plates I and II have been reduced in reproduction from approximately 3 by 7 inches and those illustrated on Plates III and IV have been reduced from approximately 2½ by 7¼ inches.

Certain Alterations

A careful examination of four notes illustrated that have been altered to The Sussex Bank of Newton, discloses a strong similarity of the words, THE SUSSEX BANK that appears in the center of each of them. When they are examined under a magnifying glass and measured as to length, the conclusion can easily be reached that the same plate, reading THE SUSSEX BANK was used to imprint the bank name on all of these notes and without doubt on many others.

Bank Note Reporters and Counterfeit Detectors

Bank note reporters and counterfeit detectors referred to previously and published periodically had twofold purposes: (1) to show the rate of discount at which uncurrent bank notes would be purchased or exchanged in the more important business centers, and (2) to furnish a brief description of counterfeit, spurious, altered, and raised notes. They were an indispensable reference work for the business man, banker, and handler of paper money during the state bank note era which came to an end shortly after the close of the Civil War.

Altered notes of The Southern Bank of Georgia, and many other banks, as well as counterfeit and raised notes of almost every bank that issued currency in those days, were briefly described in the bank note reporters so as to warn holders thereof of their fraudulent nature. All of the altered notes illustrated herein are described in one or more of the bank note reporters published at the time.

In Hodges' Journal of Finance and Bank Note Reporter (New York) for December 7, 1861 (p. 21), under Sussex Bank-Newton, Sussex County (New Jersey), may be found among others the following brief descriptions of altered notes:

1s, altered-vig. female, calves, &c-female bust on right. [This appears to describe Note A, Plate IV.]

10s, altered-female in loose robe—Washington on right. [On Plate I, Note C is an illustration of an original ten dollar note of The Southern Bank of Georgia which appears to fit the description of the altered note referred to above. The statement was previously made that no altered notes of that denomination had been found. It appears from the above that notes of that denomination were also altered to The Sussex Bank of Newton.]

In Petersons' Philadelphia Counterfeit Detector and Bank Note List for October 15, 1863 (p. 11), under New Castle County Bank, Odessa (Delaware), may be found described as follows an altered note on that bank: "5s, spurious-vig. man, girl, log and farm scene, V and two 5s on each end." This is quite likely a reference to Note B on Plate II.

It will be observed that this particular note is described as being "spurious." Such notes are generally referred to as those which on their face purport to be the issue of a particular bank and bear no resemblance to genuine notes of that bank.

The above references are typical of thousands of others to fraudulent notes listed in bank note reporters of that period. The author's collection of paper money contains specimens of Note A, Plate III, that have been altered to the following banks:

The Waterbury Bank, Waterbury, Conn.

The Bank of Brighton, Brighton, Mass.

The Beverly Bank, Beverly, Mass.

The Highland Bank, Hudson City, N. J.

Bank of Jersey City, Jersey City, N. J.

The Farmers Bank of New Jersey, Mount Holly, N. J.

The Bank of Orleans, Irasburgh, Vt.

Five of these notes are described in the last mentioned bank note reporter. They by no means purport to be a complete list of altered notes of this particular issue and denomination of The Southern Bank of Georgia, whose notes, as previously stated, appear to have been more widely altered than those of any other bank.

It will be observed that notes of the first series were hand numbered in ink, while those of the second series were numbered by machine. The inception of machine numbered notes, from observations made elsewhere, appears to coincide with the issue of the second series of notes of The Southern Bank, around 1858.

A one dollar note of this series was observed bearing the number 9725 which appears to indicate that nearly 30,000 notes (three to a sheet) of the one dollar denomination were printed. This partly accounts for the relatively large number of such notes still in existence.

The Sussex County Bank, Newton, New Jersey

While four of the six altered notes illustrated purport to be the issue of The Sussex Bank of Newton, there are many notes of The Southern Bank of Georgia extant that have been altered to the names of other banking institutions. It so happens that the altered notes illustrated, are excellent specimens of such notes which partly accounts for their use here. The inaccessibility of The Sussex Bank in the days that such notes circulated is another reason. Newton, the county seat of Sussex County, is situated about 55 miles northwest of New York City. The Sussex Bank of good reputation and financial standing, with its notes most favorably quoted in the bank note reporters, was the frequent target of the reprobates engaged in the nefarious practice of altering notes of defunct and wild cat banks.

In the period shortly after the suspension of The Southern Bank of Georgia, Newton, N. J., was served by a branch of the Lackawanna Railroad and a one way trip from New York City to Newton required about four hours time. As a result of the time involved in this instance and that of many others, altered notes were seldom presented over the counter to the purported bank of issue for redemption in specie and as a result, their fraudulent nature would not be discovered and they remained in circulation for extended periods of time.

The Sussex Bank of Newton was established in 1818 and converted into The Sussex National Bank of Newton in 1865. In 1925, The Merchants National Bank of Newton, established in 1865 as The Merchants Bank, consolidated with The Sussex National Bank of Newton, which thereupon changed its name to The Sussex and Merchants National Bank of Newton, the title under which it now operates.

Finis

While a file of The Southern Georgian was reviewed to June 16, 1860, no further references to The Southern Bank of Georgia were found. Its demise was officially recorded in House of Representatives, Ex. Doc. No. 112, 35th Congress, 2d Session, wherein the following obituaries were found: "The Southern Bank of Georgia, Bainbridge, together with two others, are reported as having failed, 'or have been or are being wound up.'"

Another confirmation of the end of the relatively short career of The Southern Bank of Georgia, at Bainbridge, comes to our attention when its name, together with the names of upwards of 1,000 other banks, is found in the October 1, 1859 issue of Peterson's Philadelphia Counterfeit Detector and Bank Note List under an all inclusive heading entitled, "List of Broken, Closed, Failed, Fraudulent and Worthless Banks."

Typical Wildcat Bank

This is a typical illustration of a wildcat bank, set up in a small town with very little local demand for banking facilities. It was organized and capitalized (?) by out of towners whose sole purpose was to issue bank notes to circulate in far-away places. Bainbridge was a long way off from any large trading center and traveling facilities, at the time, were such as to make it difficult for holders of notes of the bank to present them over the counter for redemption in specie.

This was an ideal situation from the organizers standpoint and not unlike many that existed in other places throughout the country in the free banking era when an individual or groups of individuals were permitted to engage in the banking business after complying with a few general conditions.

Acknowledgments and Sources of Information

The files of The Bainbridge Argus and The Southern Georgian from which many of the quotations and comments herein were obtained are in the possession of Mrs. E. A. Wimberly of Bainbridge, Ga., who very graciously placed them at the disposal of the author. Without their availability, little could have been written at this late day regarding the history of The Southern Bank of Georgia.

The twelve notes illustrated, original and altered, are from the personal collection of the author. The references and quotations from several bank note reporters (with one exception) and The Descriptive Register of Genuine Bank Notes were found in the author's collection of such publications. See also William H. Dillistin's Bank Note Reporters and Counterfeit Detectors 1826-1866, with a Discourse on Wildcat Banks and Wildcat Bank Notes, Numismatic Notes and Monographs No. 114, The American Numismatic Society, New York, 1949, 175 pp.

NEW LINCOLN CENT REVERSE

President Eisenhower has approved a new reverse for the Lincoln cent, according to an announcement December 20, 1958. The designer is Frank Gasparro of the Philadelphia Mint.

On the new reverse, the front of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington will occupy the center. Eliminated are the two heads of wheat, prominent features on the outer rim of the old coin. The legends have been shifted. The motto E PLURIBUS UNUM, in two lines, fills the space between the top of the Memorial and the curved UNITED STATES OF AMERICA above; ONE CENT in large letters appears in a wide arc at the bottom.

Both the Philadelphia and Denver Mints will strike the coin with public distribution scheduled to begin on Lincoln's birthday, February 12, 1959, as part of the nation's observance of the martyred president's birth sesquicentennial. The old design by Victor D. Brenner has been in use since 1909.

PAPER MONEY MAY NOW BE ILLUSTRATED

By

ELSTON G. BRADFIELD

The U. S. Treasury Department sponsored legislation in the Eighty-fifth Congress to liberalize and clarify the laws relating to the use of illustrations and films of paper money, postage and revenue stamps, checks, bonds, and other obligations and securities of the United States and foreign governments. The legislation was passed by Congress and approved by the President on September 2, 1958 (Public Law 85-921, Eighty-fifth Congress).

Under the new law, printed illustrations of paper money, checks, bonds, and other obligations and securities of the United States and foreign governments are permissible for numismatic, educational, historical and newsworthy purposes. Previously, special permission of the Secretary of the Treasury was necessary.

The illustrations of paper money, checks, or bonds must be in black and white and must be of a size less than three-fourths or more than one and one-half times the size of the genuine instrument. The illustrations must appear in articles, books, journals, newspapers, magazines, or albums, and no individual facsimiles of such obligations are permitted. No illustrations may be in color, whether or not the color is the same as the color of the genuine instrument.

The following are some examples of situations where illustrations are now permissible without special permission of the Secretary of the Treasury, providing the illustrations are in black and white and conform to the size restrictions: (1) Illustrations of paper money, postal money orders, and savings bonds in books to teach arithmetic; (2) illustrations of paper money accompanying educational or historical articles dealing with paper money in numismatic or other periodicals; (3) illustrations of paper money in albums for the collection of such money; and (4) illustrations of paper money or checks accompanying newsworthy articles in newspapers or magazines.

Also, under the new law, films, microfilms, and slides of paper money, checks, bonds, and other obligations and securities of the United States and foreign governments are permitted in black and white or in color for projection upon a screen or for use in telecasting. Previously such films or slides were permitted only by special permission of the Secretary of the Treasury.

The following are some examples of situations where films or slides of obligations and securities of the United States and foreign governments may be used: (1) Slides of paper money used by numismatists in giving lectures on the history of money; (2) educational films showing paper money where these films are used by business concerns to teach personnel how to make change; (3) microfilms of paper money, checks, and bonds by banks and banking institutions (a practice previously permitted by Treasury regulations); and (4) motion picture films containing reproductions of paper money made by motion picture producers for entertainment purposes.

Printed illustrations or films of paper money, checks, or bonds are not permitted in connection with advertising of any nature, except printed illustrations (but not films) of paper money may be used in connection with numismatic advertising. Also, under Treasury regulations illustrations of United States savings bonds and stamps are permitted in connection with the campaign for the sale of such bonds or stamps, provided the illustrations of savings stamps, but not savings bonds, are of a size less than three-fourths or more than one and one-half times the size of the genuine stamp.

Under the new law, the plates and negatives, including glossy prints, of paper money, postage and revenue stamps, bonds and other obligations and securities of the United States and foreign governments, used in printing the illustrations in publications must be destroyed after their final use for the purpose for which they were made.

No prints or enlargements from films or slides of paper money, postage or revenue stamps, bonds, or other obligations are permitted, except black and white prints may be made from such films or slides for the purpose of reproducing illustrations in publications.

The new legislation made no change in the provisions relating to the use of illustrations of coins. The Act of July 16, 1951, removed the restrictions on photographs and printed illustrations of coins of the United States and foreign countries so that photographs of printed illustrations of coins may be used for any purpose, including advertising. The same is true with respect to films of coins.

Existing law, however, does prohibit the manufacture, sale, or use of any token, disk, or device in the likeness or similitude as to the design, color, or the inscription thereon of any of the coins of the United States or of any foreign country issued as money.

The above is taken from a documentary interpretation issued by the U.S. Secret Service under date of September 23, 1958. This same document discusses certain changes also made in the illustrating of both United States and foreign stamps but which are omitted from this article as they do not ordinarily concern numismatists. For further details, write the U.S. Secret Service, Washington 25, D. C. The new Act follows:

Public Law 85-921
Eighty-fifth Congress, H. R. 9370
September 2, 1958

AN ACT

To permit illustrations and films of United States and foreign obligations and securities under certain circumstances, and for other purposes

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That section 504 of title 18, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"§ 504. Printing and filming of United States and foreign obligations and securities

Title 18,
U.S. Code,
amendment.
Stamps.
62 Stat. 713.

"Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, the following are permitted:

"(1) the printing, publishing, or importation, or the making or importation of the necessary plates for such printing or publishing, of black and white illustrations of postage and revenue stamps and other obligations and securities of the United States, and postage and revenue stamps, notes, bonds, and other obligations or securities of any foreign government, bank, or corporation for philatelic, numismatic, educational, historical or newsworthy purposes in articles, books, journals, newspapers, or albums (but not for advertising purposes, except illustrations of stamps and paper money in philatelic or numismatic advertising of legitimate numismatists and dealers in stamps or publishers of or dealers in philatelic or numismatic articles, books, journals, newspapers, or albums). Such illustrations, except those of stamps, shall be of a size less than three-fourths or more than one and one-half, in linear dimension, of each part of such obligation or security. The negatives and plates used in making the illustrations shall be destroyed after their final use for the purpose for which they were made.

"(2) the making or importation, but not for advertising purposes except philatelic advertising, of motion-picture films, microfilms, or slides, for projection upon a screen or for use in telecasting, of postage and revenue stamps and other obligations and securities of the United States, and postage and revenue stamps, notes, bonds, and other obligations or securities of any foreign government, bank, or corporation. No prints or other reproductions shall be made from such films or slides, except for the purposes of paragraph (1), without the permission of the Secretary of the Treasury."

SEC. 2. The analysis of chapter 25 of title 18, United States Code, is amended by striking out the item 62 Stat. 705-715.

"504. Printing stamps for philatelic purposes."
and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"504. Printing and filming of United States and foreign obligations and securities."

SEC. 3. Title 18, United States Code, is amended by inserting immediately following section 14 of such title the following section: 62 Stat. 686

"§ 15. Obligation or other security of foreign government defined.

"The term 'obligation or other security of any foreign government' includes, but is not limited to, uncanceled stamps, whether or not demonetized."

SEC. 4. The analysis of chapter 1 of title 18, United States Code is amended by inserting following and underneath item 14 in such analysis the following item: 62 Stat. 684-

"15. Obligation or other security of foreign government defined."

Tally was the name given to the notched sticks which were formerly used in England for keeping the accounts in the Exchequer. They were square rods of hazel or willow, inscribed on one side with notches indicating the sum for which the tally was an acknowledgement, and on two other sides with the same sum in Roman characters, with the name of the payer and the date of the transaction. Different kinds of notches stood for pence, shillings, pounds and larger amounts. When a transaction was complete, the tally recording it was split lengthwise, so that each section contained a half of each notch and one of the written sides. One of these halves was handed to the payer as his receipt; the other was retained as a record in the Exchequer. In case of dispute, the two halves were brought together, and if the correct notches on one would correspond to those of the other, they were said to tally. We have retained the word, although we have long abandoned the practice. The use of tallies in the Exchequer was abolished by Act of Parliament, 23 Geo. III. The old tallies were ordered to be destroyed by the Act 4 and 5 Will. IV, c. 15. In burning them in 1834, the flues of the furnaces in which they were being consumed became over-heated and led to the fire which destroyed the Houses of Parliament. Par value of Ghana pound — The International Monetary Fund announced on November 5 the establishment of the initial par value for the Ghana pound at US$2.80 per Ghana pound, the rate proposed by the Government of Ghana. The parities for the Ghana pound in terms of gold and in terms of the U.S. dollar of the weight and fineness in effect on July 1, 1944 are as follows: 2.48828 grams of fine gold per Ghana pound; 12.5000 Ghana pounds per troy ounce of fine gold; 0.357143 Ghana pound per U.S. dollar; 280.000 U.S. cents per Ghana pound.

RECOLLECTIONS OF VICTOR D. BRENNER

By

SAMUEL AUERHAIM

We have in our city, Bradford, Pa., a gentleman who was a personal friend of Victor D. Brenner. His name is Samuel Auerhaim. Back in February, 1918, Mr. Auerhaim gave a talk before a group of Bradford school children and presented a biographical sketch of Mr. Brenner and the fine gentleman that he was. Mr. Auerhaim has given his permission for publication. — ARTHUR L. JONES, A.N.A. No. 23738

Children, I am pleased of the opportunity and privilege of submitting to you, by request of your benefactor and instructor, that which I have brought back with me in memory as a result of a recent visit to the great metropolis, New York City. I feel certain that while it has but slight bearing upon the topic uppermost in your minds at this celebration of Lincoln's Birthday, you will be interested a little in knowing about a Big Little Man who designed the humble little one cent piece, with which you buy your candy, etc.

You should know now and henceforth believe that the greatest of men, the genius, the artist, those of great personality, are human and belong to the big brotherhood of consecrated lives who live in the consciousness of the unseen world of Truth, Love, and Beauty.

Such a man is Victor D. Brenner. I am certain that you would like to make his acquaintance. I am also possessed of the thought that he loves little boys and girls. I do not know whether in his work of art he has produced in bronze any masterpiece as yet suggestive of the realm of childhood, but if you could know the story of his life or gaze into his beaming eyes, which fairly radiate the word of love, you too would know and feel that just such wonderful people make the world a better place to live in.

A man's handiwork that find form in beauty has its rise in love of man and liberty. With Brenner it must be love that shapes the plastic clay into forms so true to nature to charm us and the generations to come. Surely God has created him great and guided his destiny, yes, brought him out of the dark Russia where superstition and persecution abounds, indeed where every condition which would tend to degenerate a soul completely into fetish. Perfecting himself to a high degree, not alone in the arts of die making and in the skill of watch manufacturing, but also in literature and the languages, Brenner saw afar off in the west the gleam and heeded the beck and call of the Statue of Liberty.

Money for existence, then existence for art's sake, we find him employed at a meager living wage in the obscure East Side of New York. The story runs thus: A great lady of culture, refinement and wealth possessed a Swiss watch which she cherished as an heirloom. It, having been brought from abroad, it was very difficult to repair. The big shops on Fifth Ave. advised that it be sent to Switzerland where it was manufactured, but also made the suggestion that at such and such an address on the East Side was an establishment which made a specialty of difficult repairing of watches and perhaps it could be accomplished there. Great was the surprise of the little storekeeper to see alighting from a beautiful limousine, no less a person than Mrs. Felix Warburg, whose mission to the shop was quickly explained. She was advised that the difficult work could be accomplished by the dexterous hands of a splendid workman in the employ of the establishment.

When in due time the watch was repaired, the patron was desirous of seeing the workman who could do things which could not be done at the largest and best establishments in the city. Mrs. Warburg was introduced to Victor David Brenner, who was so delighted with the appreciation expressed for his work and ability that he volunteered to place a beautiful design on the back of the watch for the lady. Mrs. Warburg consented by saying that she felt justified in permitting him to engrave the watch for she felt inquisitive to know how great must be the workman's skill in this art which he professed to have in comparison with the delicate manufacture and replacement by hand, of the intricate works which were broken.

It is needless to say that the genius of Brenner was recognized immediately by Mrs. Warburg upon the seeing the beautiful bit of engraving and at a family gathering, the story of her discovery was brought to the attention of her brother, who became interested in Brenner's welfare and made it possible for him to pursue his art under the celebrated Louis Oscar Roty in Paris for five years.

Brenner's ability and celebrity became widely known. The greatest men of the country came to him. Municipalities and great states commissioned him to design and create works of art for their capitals and fine buildings. Yes, indeed, President Theodore Roosevelt asked him to come to Washington; he wanted him to design the Panama Canal medal. Then the Great Soul of Victor D. Brenner spoke out and said: "Mr. President — permit me to make a suggestion, please let the Lincoln head be adopted for the poor little cent piece, which finds its way into more palms and purses and pockets than larger coins could ever hope to do. Let us thus try to endear Lincoln into the hearts of all our fellow beings in this country. They should know to love him more, to reverence him and become more familiar with that which he has done for us."

Brenner knew; he came from a Dark Country into the light of freedom. Lincoln's spirit permeated his heart and soul; inspired him in his art.

Glance at the one cent piece, see how the sculptor brings the spirit of our great Martyr, gone these many years, back to inspire us in our patriotic duties and love for our land.

Mr. and Mrs. Brenner have both come into fame and fortune, yet as I have said they are divinely human. Oh, if they could only spare the time to come to Bradford and talk to you. I am sure that the message they would bring, for instance, today on Lincoln's Birthday, wouldn't it be grand? I am sure it would. And permit me to let you into a little secret. Brenner does not care for stylish clothes; in this respect he resembles Lincoln.

New Currency in Tunisia — A new currency unit, the dinar, equivalent to 1,000 French francs, was established in Tunisia on November 1. At the same time the Bank of Algeria and Tunisia, which has been wholly owned by the French State since 1946, yielded its note issuing and other privileges in Tunisia to a new Central Bank of Tunisia and took again the name of the Bank of Algeria. Tunisia remains in the franc zone, with an obligation to observe its common regulations on external payments.

Mrs. Rae V. Biester, Superintendent of the U. S. Mint in Philadelphia, received an honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters from Beaver College at the college commencement exercises at which she also was commencement speaker. Mrs. Biester is Chairman of the Upper Darby School Authority. In addition to being a Past National President of the American Legion Auxiliary, she has been President of the Philadelphia Federation of Women's Clubs, and was the first and only woman to serve as Treasurer of Delaware County, Pa. In her address, Mrs. Biester spoke on "The Dawn of a New Day," describing the numerous avenues of interesting, challenging and rewarding endeavors that lie open before American women in this modern era.

Maker of Money Paper

MONEY is only as good as the paper it is printed on. A single type of paper, produced by one company, distinguishes genuine United States currency from counterfeit.

Since 1879, Crane & Co., Inc., of Dalton, Mass., maker of fine writing papers, has been the exclusive supplier of the paper for the nation's folding money. Between 1927 and 1935, a small amount was provided by another company.

About 4,000,000 pounds of this secret-formula paper is produced each year for the government by Crane in several of its mills in western Massachusetts. Eventually the paper becomes $1 to $100 notes, with a face value estimated at $8 billion. It costs about $9.37 to produce 1,000 bills, or less than one cent each. When ready for issuance to the public, the bills have completed a cycle from rags to riches.

A 50-50 mixture of new linen and cotton rags goes into the paper used in the so-called wet intaglio printing process, employed to make bills. The ratio is 25 per cent linen to 75 per cent cotton for the recently introduced dry printing process.

Rags from all parts of the country and from France, Scotland, England and Belgium are used — sometimes as much as 10,000 pounds — and mixed with 6,000 gallons of water and chemicals. This rag pulp then is cooked in a large boiler for eight hours. Subsequently, the pulp is "beaten" in vats to shorten the fiber. Another machine converts the pulp into rolls of paper.

Operations at Government Mill, one of the several Crane mills producing paper for currency, is conducted in three shifts. Seven to eight tons of paper a day are produced. The finished paper then is counted, inspected and delivered to government employees for another count, before being packaged and sent to Washington in guarded trucks.

Representatives of Crane and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing of the Treasury Department have worked closely for decades to perfect the paper that goes into our bills. The present product can withstand 2,200 double foldings, along the same crease, without breaking.

A $1 bill, the unit of paper currency taking the most abuse, has an average life of 13 months. Five dollar bills last about two years; $50 bills about 10 years.

Sixth generation Cranes conduct the paper business, founded in 1801 by Zenas Crane, who was 22 years old. The company not only fills paper requirements for the United States but also the paper for currencies of other countries, and for printers of securities and other documents.

TOLL TAKERS AND MONEY

From the Milwaukee Numismatic News, October, 1958, official publication of the Milwaukee Numismatic Society, we learn the following:

"A toll taker at one of the nation's turnpikes would not accept a silver dollar as payment from an automobile driver entering the check point. Seems he never saw, held or knew that our government issued silver dollars."

Editor's note — The nonacceptance of unfamiliar money by toll road attendants is not new, as we find in the following passage from Robert Owen's autobiography. Owen, the Welsh socialist and philanthropist who founded cooperative organizations including the New Harmony, Ind. settlement, had the following experience when he was 27 years old (i.e., 1798):

"I posted from Glasgow to New Lanark (Scotland), a distance of nearly 30 miles, and on which at that time there were three toll-bars at high rates. I had left Glasgow without small change, and had only guineas and half guineas with me. Sovereigns had not been introduced, and scarcely any gold coin; for when at the first toll-gate I presented a half guinea for change, the toll-man turned it over and over, and looked at it as though he had never seen one before, and said, 'Have you no notes?' The currency of Scotland at this period was in notes of their local banks. I replied, 'No — and the half guinea is the smallest change I have.' 'Then I will trust you until you return.' 'But,' I said, 'I am not sure of returning this way.' 'I will take the chance of that, rather than take money I do not know anything about. I do not understand gold money.' The same occurred at the second and third gate, and as a stranger I thus passed free of toll, an alternative which was preferred by the toll-men, to taking half a guinea, and I believe not one of them had ever seen a gold coin. I concluded I had come into a very primitive district."

Exchange Reform in Laos — Laos devalued its currency from 35 kips per U.S. dollar to 80 kips on October 10, 1958. Prior to the devaluation, the black market rate of the kip reached 110 kips per U.S. dollar. After the devaluation the gold bar in Vientiane (15 grams of fine gold) fell from 2,600 kips to 1,800 kips.

"The English take great pride in their money"

ENGLISH COINS? WHY NOT?

By

CHARLES G. COLVER, A. N. A. No. 20075

FINDING soaring prices and speculation running wild with our U.S. coins, the true numismatist is now looking for new fields of endeavor. The obvious move is to foreign coins which are still available in quantity to the average collector. The old time reference to a foreign assortment as "junk" is not heard so frequently now as the trend gathers momentum.

The first question, then, is what to collect. While considering this problem several years ago I investigated English coinage, and was very impressed with its historical background as well as the many interesting similarities to our own issues. Needless to say, I am now an enthusiastic collector of Britain's coins and am building a display that will compete with any U.S. group in both beauty and interest.

The English take great pride in their money; to them a coin is more than just something to spend, it is a portrait of a bit of their nation's history in a small package. The engravers turn out excellent examples of medallion art, and then the mint produces a finished piece worthy of a spot in anyone's gem specimen set. Numerous patterns and trial pieces bear out the fact that their coins are neither hastily designed nor "mess" produced. If a new issue does not meet with public approval, it is quickly abandoned and something more desirable is brought forth.

A complete history of English coinage would not only exceed this limited space, but would eliminate many readers at this point. Therefore we will not go back to the numerous Roman coins of England nor the Anglo-Saxon issues, but will discuss only the modern examples.

The many different denominations in use would confuse a Philadelphia lawyer; even today, without gold, they regularly use nine different sizes. Tradition demands minting all of these coins, although less can be purchased with the lowly farthing today than with our own Lincoln cent.

The London Mint is truly a great money factory turning out huge quantities and varieties of coins. Occasionally they call upon private mints for help; such as the one at Birmingham, mint mark H, and the King's Norton Copper Company, mark KN. Many, many mints existed during earlier times with all types and descriptions of mint marks.

Gold sovereigns of the English type were minted at seven locations just as our half eagles were issued from all seven U.S. mints. In addition to London, bearing no mint mark, sovereigns were made at Perth (P), Sydney (S), Melbourne (M), Ottawa (C), Pretoria (SA), and Bombay (I), the last appearing in 1918 only is quite scarce.

You have often heard it said that the sun never sets on British soil, and the same holds true of her Charles G. Colver, Glendora, Calif., although a collector of American coins, became interested in British coins while stationed in England during World War II. Active in organized numismatics, he has served as an officer of the San Bernardino County Coin Club, Covina Coin Club and the Orange County Coin Club, the latter as president.

coins. Therefore it is the most widely seen and circulated money in the history of the world. Since the portrait of the current British ruler appears on nearly all of the Commonwealth coinage, it becomes the most widely seen likeness of a living person in the world. Custom requires that each new ruler shall face in the opposite direction from his predecessor; thus George VI always looked left, and his daughter, Elizabeth II, faces right. However, we find her facing left on horseback on the crown piece in memory of a similar coin issued 400 years ago by Edward VI.

Early manufacturing methods were very crude and their product the same. Some of the older coins are quite difficult to identify and can be a source of deep study and discussion with fellow collectors. Tricks of the trade were learned rapidly, however, and we find constant improvement. To combat paring the edges of early silver pennies, for example, the "short cross" type was replaced by a "long cross" which reached to the outer rim.

A most desirable item to obtain is the first dated silver crown of England issued in 1551 by Edward VI¹. Shortly thereafter came Elizabeth I, who cannot hold a candle to the present Queen, except that her coins are more interesting. During her reign they discarded the old hammered method of manufacture, and adopted the mill and screw press for a short time, only to return to the old method until the reign of Charles I.

The William and Mary crown could almost be called the prototype of our Washington and Lafayette dollar since their conjoined busts appear on the coin in much the same fashion. A short time later in 1707, the union between England and Scotland was accomplished. Some of Queen Anne's coins of that year bear the mint mark £ denoting this historic event, and even now a special Scottish type shilling is regularly struck. Also many coins during this period were identified by the source of their metal just as was our 1848 CAL quarter eagle. The letters ssc meant that the silver was shipped to England by the South Seas Company, and LIMA found on a coin indicated this silver was taken from the Spaniards while en route to Spain from Peru.

King James II spent some time in Ireland while in exile and busied himself manufacturing coins to finance his return to the throne. No silver was available for this venture, so he melted almost anything — including cannon; thus the term "gun money" was born. They, except the crown, are the only modern coins bearing the month as well as the year of issue.

A great variety of emergency coins and tokens are found. Among the most popular of these are counterstamps upon Spanish dollars. Of course the Coventry half-penny token showing Lady Godiva is always very attractive to male collectors. George III was King at the time of the fight for freedom by the American colonies, and he contributed a vast array of coins for the English collector. About this time the gold guinea piece disappeared, and in its stead the current gold sovereign was brought into use. Also, we have the huge bronze cartwheel set of 1797 which is of little value other than paper weights and accurate scale balances, and is still being found performing these services occasionally.

The high point of our discussion is reached with the Victorian era. One of the most beautifully designed and superbly made coins of all time is the "Gothic" crown of 1847. Examine one with a glass and you will marvel at the detail attained by the engraver of this gem.

The silver florin was introduced during 1849 and was immediately dubbed the "Godless" coin because the long used inscription, DEI GRATIA, (by the Grace of God) was omitted. A similar incident occurred with our first Saint-Gaudens type $20 piece, it being called "Teddy's Godless coin," until the motto IN GOD WE TRUST could be added. Also, as on our Saint-Gaudens coin, the early florins were dated in Roman numerals, until the climax was reached in 1886 — MDCCCLXXXVI — with the date reaching nearly halfway around the coin.

In order to show her current likeness, the effigy of Queen Victoria was changed four times during her 64 year reign. A 50 year jubilee issue appeared during 1887 in her honor, but was unpopular and soon discontinued. Along with this jubilee set a double florin or four shilling piece was introduced. Like our 20¢ piece it lasted only four years, and today many dealers offer them as crowns. Many of the smaller jubilee coins were hand enameled on the reverse and sold as attractive souvenirs at the jubilee celebration, going like hot cakes. Other troubles soon beset this jubilee series. Since the sixpence had no value inscribed on it and was the same size and general appearance as the gold half sovereign, many gold plated specimens soon appeared. This, just four years after the United States had the same experience with the gold plating of our 1883 5¢ without the word CENTS.

Like us, Britain was forced to issue a trade dollar for the Orient, but continued to use it over a longer period. It appears with a standing figure of Britannia holding a trident and the inscription in three different languages. The mint mark on these coins is concealed on the center prong of the trident – just try to find it. Coronation and specimen sets are issued as needed, but only two true English commemoratives are found in recent years, these being the crowns of 1935 and 1951. The 1935 crown shows a modernistic St. George mounted upon a fantastic steed, slaying a vicious-looking dragon.

Gold disappeared in 1933 along with ours, and only a few gold proofs for the coronation have been made until the recent large issue of Elizabeth sovereigns dated 1957. Some of the smaller coins one finds are groats or fourpence, threehalfpence in silver, and half, third and quarter farthings in copper. Also the Maundy sets of fourpence, threepence, twopence and a penny in silver are made each year and on Maundy Thursday are presented by the ruler in a religious ceremony dating back hundreds of years.

Some of these sets are common and some are quite scarce since the quantity struck depend upon the age of the sovereign.

Many English coins are of the lettered edge variety just as were many early United States issues. Numerous changes in silver content appear down through the years, and at present there is no silver in any regular denomination. The current aluminum bronze twelve-sided threepence is a very unusual looking coin. Some of the devices most commonly used in design are the Tudor rose, Irish harp, Scottish thistle, English lion, the crown, and the old standby, St. George – still attempting to slay his dragon. A Latin inscription is a necessity on all coins just as is our E PLURIBUS UNUM. D.G. REX BRIT. F.D. IND. IMP. translated means "King of Britain by the Grace of God, Defender of the Faith and Emperor of India."

My collection of English coins was greatly enhanced during a period spent in England in World War II. There was always a table with that famous G.I. pastime in progress and money from all over the world in evidence. One incident that comes to mind was when the Englishman in the crowd bet a pound on his hand, and the Texan drawled back, "I don't know what kind of money that is, but I'll raise you a ton."

U. S. 1959 PROOF SETS

On November 1, 1958, the Philadelphia Mint began accepting advance orders for 1959 proof sets. Orders will be filled in a strict sequence of receipt date, and will be accepted, packed and shipped in either one set ($2.10) or two set ($4.20) packages. Orders for more than two sets must be in lots of five sets ($10.50), 10 sets ($21.00), 25 sets ($52.50), 50 sets ($105.00), 100 sets ($210.00) or multiples of 100 sets only. If the quantities ordered exceed the Mint's ability to produce, the policy of shipping limited quantities on large orders and favoring the individual collector on small orders will be resumed. Remittances should be certified personal check, U. S. postal money order or bank cashier's check. Prices and terms are subject to change without notice. Send orders to Mrs. Rae V. Biester, Superintendent, United States Mint, 16th and Spring Garden Sts., Philadelphia 30, Pa.

The striking of 1959 sets probably will not begin before the third week in January, 1959. Orders for 1958 sets are still being accepted.

NEW OR RECENT ISSUES

DESCRIBED BY ERNST KRAUS

It is the important duty of The Numismatist to record and illustrate new coins. To accomplish this, members in the United States and abroad are invited to submit new issues to Ernst Kraus, Apt. A, 1501 E. Mt. Airy Ave., Philadelphia 50, Pa. Coins will be photographed and returned as soon as possible, and a credit line will be given to anyone assisting.

GUM MONEY: A FANTASY

By

RANDOLPH ZANDER, A.N.A. No. 11168

AN EXAMPLE of exciting numismatic research is the study which our good friend and colleague, Dr. Reginald J. B. McMellifully, has done on the chewing gum currency that achieved a considerable circulation in the Pacific Islands in the late phases of World War II. Readers will recall that military payment certificates were not completely satisfactory and there were also difficulties with ordinary U. S. currency. An expedient was urgently needed, for there was considerable small commerce between the natives and our soldiers and sailors.

It was at this time, in March of 1945, that Yankee ingenuity provided a solution classical in its simplicity. An unidentified Sea Bee manually fashioned a used stick of chewing gum into a round disc, imprinted on the obverse and reverse with his forefinger and thumb prints, or double toughra, and used it to buy a shot of sake at a local cantina. Others were quick to follow his example, and between early April and late May, according to Dr. McMellifully's admittedly tentative findings, approximately 34,681 of these discs had been issued. This did not represent the total circulation at the time, however. A number of the Micronesian shopkeepers and young ladies developed a taste for second-hand chewing gum so that at any given time along in, say, early June of 1945, a good 10% of the gum money was being used for masticatory purposes. In addition, gum money was withdrawn from circulation for patching corrugated iron roofs and other utilitarian uses.

The numerous individual issuing authorities among our fighting men were able to add constantly to the circulating medium. By late August inflation had set in. Before the end of the year the corrected real index of purchasing power of a chewing gum disc had fallen to barely 4.36% of its mean average for May. Though the coinage was used in a desultory way for some time after, its utility had ceased for all practical purposes by the beginning of 1946.

The serious numismatist is faced with a number of challenging problems in classifying these pieces. Dr. McMellifully's catalog is a monument of research. Yet he has said, with disarming candor, "... my list is far from complete." An enterprising graduate student, working with the doctor on a McFard Foundation grant, has travelled through this country and has visited the Islands to interview persons who issued and used the currency. His data are now being analyzed, and in due course a new and definitive CORPUS NUMMORUM PLASTICORUM will result.

In general the usual system of fingerprint classification has been followed in arranging the gum tokens (it is no breach of confidence to say that the law enforcement authorities have found Dr. McMellifully's work of substantial value in connection with some black market cases they had been studying). An interesting field of specialization involves changes in the dies. Occasionally an issuing authority would sustain a cut or other injury to his thumb or forefinger. This would result in a die break. But unlike conventional breaks which tend to grow more marked, these would gradually diminish as the injury mended. In the writer's collection is a fascinating series tracing the healing of M/Sgt. Adam Vanderplonck after his right forefinger had been lacerated by flying glass in a melee in the PX on Mooripangi Atoll. It is all the more remarkable for the fact that Sgt. (by then Private) Vanderplonck's die break series was issued entirely from the disciplinary stockade where he spent his convalescence in solitude.

Some collectors limit their efforts to assembling tokens fabricated from a single brand of chewing gum. Adams Black Jack, for example, with its somber color, makes an impressive display, but specimens in this medium are extremely rare. The Juicy Fruit series appeals particularly to me. It is aesthetically pleasing to the sense of smell as well as to the eye.

Another facet of the series is the multiples that occasionally show up. Some lantern-jawed issuing authorities chewed several sticks of gum at a time. They produced fine broad tokens on which the double toughra is displayed most effectively. A few bubble-gum chewers issued gum money but this seems never to have had much appeal.

The question of restrikes is a vexing one. Dr. McMellifully has incontrovertible evidence that some unscrupulous issuing authorities, aware of the rarity now of their wartime issues, have made restrikes solely to meet collector's demands. Moreover, other individuals never involved in the actual wartime issue of this currency have produced altogether spurious pieces de fantaisie which have been bought by the unwary or uninformed. The revised McMellifully Corpus will have some practical hints for the collector on how to identify these abominations.

The question of care and preservation and display of gum money admits of no easy answers. The effect of a humid or southern climate on enveloped specimens can be irreparably damaging to both token and envelope. Roll collectors have found to their sorrow that even a well wrapped roll of gum tokens turns in short order into a sticky amalgam. Some few collectors of the old school have housed their gum money in mahogany cabinets with trays. This has the merit of exposing the obverse to ready view (though the coins quickly attract a thick patina of grayish dust or lint). But the disadvantage is that after a matter of weeks the reverses of the coins melt onto the tray, so that the collection becomes permanently mounted. One student lacquered his coins. The process somehow expunged the mint bloom and left them with a smooth sticky surface, devoid of design. In desperation, some of us have taken to making plaster casts and then simply chucking out the gummy discs. The plaster casts can be sprayed with vegetable dyes with colors chosen to differentiate the principal categories of fingerprint whorls. I have converted 7,350 of my gum coins into 14,700 plaster casts. The collection fits snugly into our second son's former bedroom — he generously relinquished it and has moved in with our elder son.

Finally, there is the question of investment. What disinterested counsel can one give the forward-looking collector who thinks beyond his own lifetime to the well-being of his surviving loved ones? First, I would say that the appeal of this series is in the opportunity it presents for rigorous interdisciplinary research in support of numismatics. The true gum money collector is contemptuous of the so-called numismatic investor. But lest I seem too harsh, let me make a qualification. Professor McMellifully's new Corpus will be published shortly, and at a popular price. This great work, reinforced in some small measure perhaps by the present article, is bound to focus attention on the series.

Confidentially, McMellifully and the rest of us pioneers are looking for a killing when the suckers move into the field.

Colorado-Wyoming Convention

Those who didn't attend the Colorado-Wyoming Numismatic Association's annual convention held at the Elk's Club, Lakewood, September 27-28, 1958, missed a good show, according to reports. The exhibits were of better quality than heretofore and the eleven dealers in the bourse were kept busy. Most of the auction lots went to floor bidders with duels between dealers common.

Officers for 1959 are Billie B. Baker, Denver, president; Frank N. Laas, Fort Collins, Colo., first vice president; William C. Rhodes, Eaton, Colo., second vice president; David C. Hart, Denver, Colo., third vice president; Herman L. Boraker, Rocky Ford, Colo., secretary-treasurer; Ray Gile, Al Gorman, Eldon E. Veirs, James N. Perry, Anthony Butorac, Dr. Franklin Yoder, directors. The 1959 convention was given to the Cheyenne Coin Club and will be for three days.

Added Information on Roosevelt Medal

To the Fuld list of T. Roosevelt medals, I would like to add a little information on R.O.M.11. The initials A.P. on obverse and reverse are those of Adam Pietz, Philadelphia sculptor, who recently showed me the obverse die for this medal and a new reverse die (heraldic eagle) which he has just designed for a new striking.

South African Decimal Coinage

The South African Decimal Coinage Commission, which was appointed in 1956, has recommended a decimal coinage system based on a unit equivalent to 10 shillings and consisting of 100 bronze cents and 10 silver shillings. The pound would cease to be the money unit, and the half crown (2s 6d) would be abandoned. The new system would cost the government about $25 million in compensation to machine companies and owners of adding machines, electric gasoline pumps, cash registers, and price computing scales. The foreign exchange involved in acquiring new machines would be more than $23 million. — South African Scope, November, 1958.

Questions

Dear Mr. Bradfield:

For the past several months I have examined all the $3.00 gold coins that I came in contact with. I found several coins of various dates from 1854 to 1874 to have the complete head and others the profile of the Indian princess in the center of the wreath on the reverse, by turning the wreath upside down. All the coins show the head without her hair. Why the head or profiles appear in the same place on various dates within the period of 20 years is something I am trying to solve.

Has anyone found the answers to my other discovery, the date 1859 struck very sharp and clear, alongside the 1836 date on the brilliant Gobrecht dollar? — L. S. WERNER

Commemorative Coin of Israel

A press release from Jacques Minkus, director of the Israel Philatelic Agency, states that the new Israel commemorative coin, bearing the motto "Knowledge Is Light" issued in honor of Chanukah (the festival of lights), is in demand in Israel. The Israel Philatelic Agency has been requested to return all unsold coins on hand to Israel. Only 250,000 regular coins and 5,000 proofs have been minted. Minkus says the "popularity of these coins in Israel serve as indications that this coin will be worth having."

Michigan's Convention

The recent Michigan State Numismatic Society convention was an outstanding success from all aspects. The bourse of 54 dealers reported very satisfactory business and all commented on the large numbers attending. All ladies registered at the convention were guests of the Detroit Coin Club at a luncheon on Saturday and participated in a bingo party on Friday evening. The committee was well satisfied with the attendance and 499 voluntary registrations were reported.

The exhibits were diversified and represented the ultimate in numismatic appeal. The judges were Lewis M. Reagan, Glenn Smedley and C. C. (Tim) Shroyer. First place trophies were won by Irving Moskovitz, foreign; Roman Dacko, misc., odd and curious; Max E. Brail, paper money; Irving Moskovitz, United States, and George D. Hatie, ancients. The best in show was won by Irving Moskovitz.

Michael Kolman, Jr.'s auction was well attended and the floor bidding was brisk. The banquet was attended by 246.

The invitation of the Grand Rapids Coin Cub to hold next year's Michigan State convention under its auspices was accepted. The tentative dates set are the regular Michigan State dates, namely the third weekend in November. — PAUL F. SCHILLING, Gen. Chmn.

Reward for Theft Information

Dear Sir:

Would appreciate information from any member or dealer, who perhaps, purchased a broken set of 1939-P and D Arkansas Centennial Commemorative half dollars (lacking the 1939-S mint) since April 7, 1958. If you have purchased the above coins or various other sets in addition to the above please notify the writer giving particulars and description of coins purchased. It is essential that you furnish the name and address of the seller. Your information will be kept strictly confidential and you will receive a handsome reward if your information bears fruit.

Panama Canal Invitation

Dear Sir:

Recently several members of the Isthmian Numismatic Society of which I am the president, stated that many large cruise ships dock in Cristobal from 12 to 24 hours. Most of these ships have me as the Docking or Undocking Pilot and sometimes have coin collectors aboard.

Some of our members who are connected in various parts of the Panama Canal organization have experienced great difficulty going ashore in a strange port without knowing anyone. We invite any member of the A.N.A.

or coin collector who arrives in the Panama Canal area to contact us by telephone and we will assist them in every manner possible.

Medal Identified?

A number of responses identifying the medal shown on page 536 of the May Numismatist were received by Gary Krug, but none could place it exactly.

Prof. Thomas O. Mabbott stated "the inscription is Amharic, the official language of Ethiopia. It is written in a syllabary—the vowels are expressed as modifying forms on fundamental consonant characters."

Others translated the inscription as "Armenian badge" or "Armenian coat of arms," although a dissent was registered by John Zamgochian who gave it as "Armenian sharpshooter medal." The piece was called a "souvenir" by M. Arahan and described as "most likely struck to commemorate a national event" by Paul Bedoukian.

"The arms shown were made up for the short-lived Armenian Republic which was overrun by Soviet forces in 1920. I believe this medal was made in Europe in 1919 to commemorate the independence of Armenia after the first World War," said N. V. Jamgochian.

B. A. Harajian of Damascus, Syria, wrote "Your medal is a personal construction for a present or gift to a friend by his graduation from a school. Armenians did not have such inscriptions as 'Armenian badge' over their badges or medals."

Editor's note: Trying to give proper identification to a coin or medal illustrated by a halftone engraving is difficult. Therefore, the efforts by the above numismatists to attribute this medal are much appreciated.

San Francisco Coin Hunt Report

I read with interest the comments of Daniel Wiseman based on his examining one million cents while living in Austin, Minn. In view of my residing in San Francisco, I thought your readers would like to know the following statistics based on my going through 100,000 Lincolns during the period June 15 to September 15, 1958: (1) 1909-S, VDB; (3) 1910-S; (2) 1911-S; (2) 1912-S; (4) 1914-S; (17) 1921-S; (9) 1923-S; (23) 1924-S; (2) 1924-D; (48) 1925-S; (8) 1926-S; (2)

1931-S; (14) 1939-D; singles of all dates from 1935-1958 almost uncirculated; no 1909-S, 1914-D, 1912-D and 1922-D; no Indian Heads and only two planchets.

Talk about a morale builder, I found the 1909-S VDB while going through my first roll. This coin is almost uncirculated and I have been offered $70.00 for it. As a matter of policy, I did not save poor or fair coins and only rare items in good condition. As a result, the tabulation reflects primarily fines to "uncircs."

I am a high school sophomore and took on this project during my summer vacation. It required a portion of 50 working days with an average of 2,000 coins scrutinized at each sitting. Initially, I spent four hours daily checking this number but by practice I cut the time to two hours per 2,000 or one coin every 3.6 seconds — including unwrapping, sorting, and re-rolling. My total time expended in this venture came to 160 hours. This included trips to the local bank, preparation of filing data, and other directly related chores.

My collection has been appraised at $164, an hourly rate slightly in excess of a dollar per hour. From a financial viewpoint hunting coins can be a profitable experience and a sound long-term investment. Furthermore, there is no thrill like the discovery of a rare coin such as a 1909-S VDB.

I would like to hear from fellow numismatists in the Denver and Philadelphia areas to see if they secure the heavy concentration from their mint.

Challenges Canadian Catalogers

The year 1958 has seen a controversy regarding the quantity of 1948 silver dollars issued by the Royal Canadian Mint. For years catalogs have shown the quantities coined as 18,780, whereas the annual mint reports have indicated 8,080. Recently Master A. P. Williams, Superintendent of the Royal Canadian Mint, reported 10,700 1948 silver dollars minted in January, 1949. If this information has been known for years why have the authors of Canadian catalogs allowed the quantities of 1949 silver dollars to be printed in error? Annual Mint Reports indicate 672,124 units coined in 1949, which is 10,700 too many IF the 10,700 minted early in 1949 are credited to 1948.

The Royal Canadian Mint has identified coins, other than original mintage, by the use of a mark for later issues: 1936 minor coins minted in 1937 have a "dot" for identification, 1947 coins minted in 1948 have the maple leaf symbol, silver dollars of 1952 and 1955 are also marked along with others.

Does an A.N.A. member have a variety listed for the 1948 silver dollar? Can someone clarify this situation?

Medal Authorized for Rear Admiral Rickover

A statute adopted by Congress August 18 authorized and directed the Secretary of the Treasury to strike a gold medal to be presented to Rear Admiral Hyman George Rickover by the Chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy. This was in recognition of Admiral Rickover's direction of the development and construction of the world's first nuclear-powered ships and the first large-scale nuclear power reactor devoted exclusively to the production of electricity. Duplicates of the medal in bronze will be struck for sale to the public.

The legislation was introduced by Senator Anderson and 47 other senators on August 13, 1958 as Senate Joint Resolution 201, was reported without amendment from the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency the next day, passed both the Senate and the House August 18, and became Public Law 85-826.

Arkansas Note

Dear Mr. Bradfield:

The following may be of interest to the collectors of Southern State currency.

I have in my collection a $1.00 State of Arkansas note dated 1868, which is similar to Criswell No. 60. It is unlisted by Bradbeer. The note is printed in blue and black and carries an eight per cent interest rate. On the reverse, THE FAITH AND CREDIT OF THE STATE OF ARKANSAS ARE PLEDGED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THIS CERTIFICATE FROM THE REVENUE OF 1868. I believe the note is authorized by an act dated 1868, although I can't be sure as the note is damaged in the portion carrying the authorization date.

Malayan Federation Currency

In commending to the Legislative Council the bill to establish a central bank in Malaya, Sir Henry Lee, the Finance Minister of the Federation, outlined the following features of the proposed bank (Bank Negara Tanah Melayu): The head office would be in Kuala Lumpur. The government proposes that the authorized capital of the bank should be $M 30 million, of which $M 20 million would be subscribed by the government and paid on the establishment of the bank. The Board of Directors would consist of the Governor, Deputy Governor, and five others; they would be responsible for the policy and general administration of the bank.

The currency unit of the Federation would be the Malayan dollar, divided into 100 cents, and the bank would have the sole right to issue notes and coin. The parity of the Malayan dollar would be the current rate of 2s. 4d. sterling; in order to preserve this parity and maintain confidence in the currency, the bank would be required to exchange dollars for sterling and sterling for dollars at the rate of 2s. 4d., after making a small exchange charge, in much the same way as the Board of Commissioners of the Currency operates at present.

Egyptian banknote regulations relating to the external use of Egyptian banknotes have been amended to bring exchange rates for banknotes in line with those applicable to bank transfers. Foreign tourists and nonresidents coming to Egypt can bring in Egyptian banknotes without limit. Egyptian exports of books, newspapers, magazines, and Egyptian motion picture films can be paid for in full in Egyptian banknotes. Up to 25% of the value of other Egyptian exports, except rice, crude petroleum, and ship supplies, can be settled in Egyptian banknotes. Egyptian banknotes can be taken abroad only by tourists who bring such banknotes into Egypt; they are limited to the amounts brought in minus the amounts spent in the Egyptian region (previously resident and nonresidents leaving Egypt could only take out LE 20).

THE NENA CONVENTION

The fourteenth annual convention of the New England Numismatic Association was held at the Bancroft Hotel, Worcester, Mass., October 10-12, 1958. It was a success in every respect. The registration was 279, nearly 50% increase over any previous year. Numismatists came from all over the country and Canada to attend the festivities of this important and growing regional convention.

A social hour started the gala occasion on Friday evening with a cocktail party in the NENA Room of the hotel. The Worcester County Numismatic Society served as host. The refreshments were provided by members of the Worcester County Numismatic Society and NENA.

The exhibits filled the balcony. There were 31 exhibitors, but many exhibits occupied several cases. The coins and bills covered every period, time, and numismatic interest. Much thought, knowledge, and work was placed into the conception and execution of the exhibits.

The bourse was formed by 29 dealers from the northeastern section of the country, not entirely from New England. The cases contained all types of material from the ancient coins to modern day rolls of coins. The dealers did a most gratifying business.

The auction was conducted by the Old Colony Coin Auctions of Boston. Formed by Harold White-neck, Maurice M. Gould (both past presidents of NENA), and Arthur Conn, this was their debut, and if it is an indication of future sales, they may soon become one of the leading auctioneers in the country. The material contained the widest variety of material that was ever offered at a NENA convention. It was particularly rich in the ever increasingly popular Canadian series.

The auction broke many records in the New England area. The attendance was larger than any previous auction, at least 40 or 50 being turned away. Also the total amount realized was the greatest ever.

More than 2,000 lots were auctioned by Arthur Conn between 2:00 P.M. and midnight. The Canadian section attracted the most attention and there were many out of town bidders, including Jules Mero, Bernard Fisher of Montreal, Oscar Windau, the well known Canadian dealer, and many others.

The Canadian section broke many records; a few of the prices realized were:

1858 Large date, 5¢, AU ..	$151.00
1872-H Dime, Unc.	285.00
1875-H Quarter, fine	155.00
1899 Fifty cent piece, AU ..	125.00
1875 Canadian dime, fine ..	90.00
1921 Five cent piece, VG ..	200.00

All Canadian and Newfoundland lots brought good prices with spirited bidding. In the Canadian token series the rare ones brought high prices, but the more common ones went reasonably.

On a nice U. S. type set a few prices were:

1793 Large cent, S-9, EF ..	$290.00
1856 Flying eagle cent, AW-210, proof	600.00
1914-D Lincoln cent, BU ..	210.00
1794 Five cents, unc.	275.00
1916 Quarter, unc.	205.00
1901-S Fifty cent piece, unc.	515.00

The two weak spots in the auction were U. S. half cents and large cent varieties.

Music was provided both at the buffet supper and the banquet. People were turned away from both, with 126 attending the former and 76 the latter.

The program for Saturday evening began with a speech by a Past President, Arthur R. Moore, who spoke on "Mercantilism." His scholarly lecture covered the points of history, both in this country and in the West Indies, England, and Spain, that resulted in the coinage of early America, reasons for the Spanish coins, the New England shillings, Rosa Americana, and other colonial coins of America rather than the actual coins themselves.

The second numismatic lecture took place Sunday at noon. Another NENA past president, Earl V. Tuttle, spoke on Russian coins. He illustrated his talk with coins shown on a screen. Russian coins have not been popular in this country. Mr. Tuttle drew on his vast numismatic knowledge to impart the history behind these coins. He began with the Romanoff family in the late 1500s and traced the coinage of Russian rulers until their extinction in 1917. Not only did he give the history of the coins, but he interjected many historically important and little known sidelights on the personalities concerned.

In 1959 NENA will be entertained at Hartford, Conn., 1960 in Providence, R. I., 1961 in Springfield, Mass., and 1962 in New Haven, Conn. The new officers are: President Howard E. Davis, Vice President Gustave H. Johnson, Secretary-Treasurer Rose E. Ford, Permanent Secretary Clifford F. Howe, and Convention Chairman William E. Hofman.

Kenneth E. Bressett was banquet speaker this year. He is well known in numismatic circles for his research on colonial American coins and his outstanding numismatic photography. He spoke on the coinage of Massachusetts.

AN OLD STATE LAW ON LEGAL TENDER

The following is quoted from The Law of Magistrates and Constables in South Carolina, printed by Walker and Burke, Charleston, 1848:

By the Constitution of the United States Sec. 8 c. 5 Congress shall have the power to coin money, regulate the value thereof, etc.,

By the Act of Congress 1837, 4 Story 2523 Sec. 8th the standard of gold and silver of the United States is required to be such that of one thousand parts by weight, nine hundred shall be of pure metal, and one hundred of alloy. And the alloy of silver coins shall be of copper; and the alloy of gold coins shall be of silver and copper; provided that the silver do not exceed one half of the whole alloy.

[Then follow regulations of the coins weight, etc., and under gold coins the following.]

All gold coins of the United States coined anterior to July 1834 are required to be received in all payments at the rate of ninety four and eight tenths of a cent per penny-weight.

By Act of Assembly 4th S L 543, gold and silver coins of the following weights and denominations shall pass current and be received in payment as a tender in law in this State at the following value of four shillings and eight pence sterling to a Spanish milled dollar and at the following relative value to each other: that is to say,

A Spanish milled dollar 4s. 8d.

[*Did not add in above the quarter and eighth ditto; also moidore did not add half quarter and eighth; also pistole did not add the pistole or half pistole; also half and quarter English guinea. All of these are approximately in relation to the master coin. B.H.L.]

A. A No. 1276.

This table is of force except those parts which conflict with the above Act of Congress.

[The statute recognizes the authority of the federal government but sets up a state penalty for counterfeiting and other violations relating to coinage. B.H.L.]

Any person who shall counterfeit . . . in his or her possession any die stamp or mould . . . shall be adjudged guilty of felony and suffer death as a felon without benefit of clergy. [By Act of 1845 this punishment is changed to whipping and imprisonment and fine.]

For willfully clipping or filing or otherwise diminish the weight or value . . . on conviction before the Justices of any Court of General Sessions . . . for every offence twelve months close imprisonment and during that period stand twice in the pillory.

[Benefit of clergy is defined in the volume mentioned as: "Benefit of clergy is an indulgence allowed by law to persons convicted of certain offences for the first time, and who, but for such indulgence must suffer death for such offences." B.H.L.] — BRYAN H. LUMPKIN

— The Editor

The Mohawk Valley Coin Club, Utica, N. Y., was organized at a meeting September 23, 1958. Charter roll closed January 1, 1959. Meetings are held the fourth Tuesday evening of each month at the Munson-Williams-Proctor Institute, 310 Genessee St. Officers elected to serve to January 1, 1959, were William P. Donlon, president; Ralph S. Short, vice president; David Hervey, secretary; Wayne N. Palmer, treasurer. Numismatists from nearby areas have addressed club meetings on interesting topics — Dr. Sartoris, Albany, on U. S. copper coins; Charles Schermerhorn, on mint errors. Exhibitors have included Kenneth Fuller, Dr. Sartoris, Charles Schermerhorn, William Donlon. Interested collectors are invited to write to Wayne N. Palmer, Apt. 314, 1030 Miller St., Utica 3, for information on the club.

At the 244th meeting, October 22, 1958, of the Orange County Coin Club, President John Stoppelwerth presided, with 119 present. The membership observed a minute of silent prayer in memory of Eugene Diedrich, a member who passed away recently. Program Chairman Hogue introduced the speaker, Maurice Jensen, who gave an excellent talk on "Bechtler Private Gold Coins." Private gold is generally a field entered only by an advanced collector as most specimens are both scarce and expensive. Christopher Bechtler was one of the early makers of private gold coins, starting his mint in North Carolina in 1831. These coins were mostly melted down in 1834 when the U. S. government changed the price of gold. Therefore these early pieces are very scarce. The opening of the Charlotte mint in 1838 just about put the Bechtler mint out of business but they did continue until 1852.

The Oklahoma City Coin Club is sponsoring a junior coin club with the co-operation of the local YMCA. The first meeting was attended by 26 boys on October 25, 1958, at the YMCA with the Director of Boy's Activities in charge. Seven members of the senior Oklahoma City club attended this meeting and President M. C. Sauer led the discussion group regarding organization and general coin collecting. John Dunn, chairman of the Oklahoma City Coin Club's Junior Club Committee, had laid the groundwork for future organization with the YMCA Director. A Whitman folder for Lincoln cents was given each boy in attendance.

The 272nd meeting of Heart of America Numismatic Association took place October 20, 1958, attendance over 200. The program was given over to S. J. Kabealo, who flew in from California to address the group. He explained the origin and mechanics of auction sales, and specifically outlined plans for the Central States Numismatic Society auction to be held at convention time next April. Another guest was M. C. Sower, President of the Oklahoma City club.

Members gathered at the Kerrisdale Community Centre on November 6th for the meeting of the Vancouver (B.C.) Coin Club. Bursting at the seams, and with larger quarters, there was an attendance of 70. It was film night and we were privileged to have the International Nickel Company's "Money Minters" and this coupled with "Highway North," a centennial presentation, providing an interesting and entertaining program. Refreshments were served.

At the November meeting of the Cleveland Coin Club the following were elected for 1959: president, Myron Sobotta; vice president, Leon Lindheim; secretary, Mildred Shunk; treasurer, Mildred Evans. Displays for the evening were William Burgy, Confederate paper money; Jack McKay, gold type set; Joe Lukas, coins from Arabian Nights, Persian shahs, Ispahan, El Rasheed, square rupees, and also Ancient Greek and Roman minor silver coins; Mildred Shunk, dollar that Washington tossed across the Rappahannock; Dr. Y. A. Sargis, Amber money, St. George with dragon minted 1630, Martin Luther medal, silver dollar 1802 over 1801.

Bay Cities Coin Club held its 171st meeting at Douglas Aircraft Recreation Hall, Santa Monica, Calif., October 24, 1958. Speaker for the evening was Bob Greene who gave a very interesting talk on "United States Commemorative Gold Coins," and exhibited his personal collection of commemorative gold coins.

The new officers of the Camden County Coin Club of New Jersey for the fiscal year 1958-59 are, president, Joseph E. Elselein, 255-D Garfield Ave., Collingswood 7, N.J.; secretary, Paul J. Sullivan, 1643 Minnesota Rd., Camden 4, N.J.

These take office on November 24, 1958.

Abe Kosoff, noted coin dealer, will be the speaker at the twenty-second annual banquet and installation of officers of the San Diego Numismatic Society in the Continental Room of the San Diego Hotel, 339 W. Broadway, San Diego on January 24 at 7:00 p.m. Tickets are $3.25. Requests for tickets with remittance should be sent to the chairman, Thomas McDaniel, 5255 Guessman Ave., La Mesa, Calif.

The Regina Coin Club held its first meeting of the fall season on October 28th with a record attendance of 45. President Cec Tannahill welcomed those present, including several from Moose Jaw, Lewvan, Saskatoon, Punnichy, Duval and Milestone. George Muntain and Roy Miller spoke on the enjoyable trip they had to the A.N.A. convention in Los Angeles. Jack Summerlin reported on the committees set up for the C.N.A. convention here in September. He announced with pleasure that several hotel reservations have been made already. Memberships were received from 19 new members before the meeting closed.

Those attending the October meeting of the Hawthorne Coin Club enjoyed several interesting exhibits and talks on token collecting. Prizes were awarded to H. Mareska, J. Gore and E. Valach. Later in the evening Harold Mareska explained why some of our proof sets are "frosted."

On October 28 the William Penn Coin Club of Philadelphia elected the following officers for 1959: President Edward Hutchinson, Vice President Samuel Burgdorf, Second Vice President John Harrison, Jr., Secretary Daniel J. Lorden, Treasurer William H. Moran and Executive Board Delegate-at-Large Ralph Jones. There was a very successful auction limited to uncirculated and proof coins. Bernard Gimelson exhibited a complete mint set of "first process" blank planchets; Samuel Burgdorf exhibited and spoke on the coins and stamps of Ghana.

Shown here is the club medal recently struck. The reverse was left blank for hand engraving of names and club numbers of members. It was designed by Adam Pietz, distinguished Philadelphia sculptor, whose best-known works include the A.N.A. medal of merit and the Iowa Centennial Commemorative half dollar of 1946. The club medal was made in Philadelphia in both bronze and sterling silver. For additional information, write Daniel J. Lorden, 4000 Bennington St., Philadelphia 24, Pa.

The second annual Oregon State Coin Jamboree with Willamalane Coin Club of Springfield as host, will be held in Springfield on Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 24 and 25. It will be held at the Park and Recreation District's Memorial building at Eighth and North A Streets, where there is ample free parking. There will be 15 bourse tables, with dealers from several states and an auction of choice materials on Sunday. Coin collectors are invited to come and exhibit their coins and currency, bringing their own cases for exhibit. There is no limit to number of cases. Ribbons will be awarded in each classification. There will be door prizes, and coffee will be served by the club both days. There is no admission charge. Wooden "nickels" will be sold as souvenirs, one commemorating the Oregon State Centennial in 1959, and one the Jamboree. These will sell at 15c or two for 25c. Anyone wishing to order these by mail should write to Harry Hawkins, 3740 Main St., Springfield, Ore.

The Oak Park Coin Club's second all-day affair, held on November 9, was visited by over 900 people. There were many outstanding exhibits. Medals for excellence of exhibit were awarded, in alphabetical order, to August Hausske, I. T. Kopicki, and Theodore Rich. A medal was also awarded to Don Dethlefsen, for the best exhibit in the junior division. Honorable mention went to Harry Flower, James Grebinger and Earl Salisbury. Medals of Merit, for outstanding club work, were awarded to Paul Igelman and Warren Kimball. Harold Klein and James Thompson did a "bang-up" job of conducting the two auction sessions. As an example of the interest created, a man came in during the afternoon with his six children, and requested that a member tell them about coin collecting. Earl Salisbury was called, and six new numismatists were created.

Billings Coin Club officers were installed at a November 7, 1958 dinner meeting in the Reclamation Bureau Cafeteria. The impressive ceremony was directed by Henry Kidd, installing officer, and Ed Wight, marshal. Officers seated were Felix Restad, president; Ed Wilson, vice president; and Mrs. Lillian Thompson, secretary-treasurer. Senior board members are William Shaffer and Don Miller; Gregory Kastl was installed as junior director. Members of a committee which planned last spring's observance of National Coin Week were presented A.N.A. award certificates by Frances George, retiring president.

President Felix Restad called the November 16 meeting to order with about 25 present. Various members talked on their happy or unhappy findings of valuable coins. These talks were led by Ed Wilson, program chairman.

The organizational meeting of the Pueblo (Colo.) Coin Club was held November 24, 1958, at the Southern Colorado Power Company club rooms with 28 present. For further details, write to C. L. Carter, 2919 Cheyenne Ave., Pueblo, Colo.

Phoenix Coin Club 1959 officers are Harry Crittenden, president; Merle Burke, vice president; Jack Beilby, vice president; Dottie Dow, secretary; George Taylor, treasurer.

The San Joaquin Valley Coin Club held a special Ladies' Night dinner meeting in November at the Trail's Roundup in Fresno, Calif., with guest speaker Merrill Cole relating the early history of U.S. paper currency and exhibiting fractional currency. There were 22 members present, Secretary-Treasurer Ronnie Carr reports.

Kansas City Numismatic Society held its organizational meeting November 13, 1958. The club will feature a mutual investment plan as part of its program. Officers elected were: president, Hart D. Mayer; first vice president, Galen Whitt; second vice president, Howard Posten; treasurer, Don Helfrey; secretary, Elmer Tobin; reporter, E. H. Weinstein. Meetings will be held the second Thursday of each month preceded by an informal dinner. Membership is to be limited. For information write E. H. Weinstein,

7209 East 108th St., Hickman Mills 34, Mo. Invitations to meetings and applications for membership available upon request from Mr. Posten.

The Santa Barbara Coin Club held a banquet on November 22 in the Carrillo Hotel. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davidson and Mr. and Mrs. John Yribarne. Mr. Davidson is president of the California State Numismatic Association. Mr. Yribarne, guest speaker, talked on Biblical coinage. Dinner music was supplied by junior member Marvin Finnley, and the evening's entertainment was rounded out by a fine magician, Bill Adams. Members displaying coins included Roy Evans, Don Jurgensen and Vic Rose.

At the November 17th meeting, Fred Claveria displayed some of the Mexican coinage that he has been collecting since he was eight years old.

The annual banquet of the Milwaukee Numismatic Society, held at the Ambassador Hotel, Milwaukee, Wis., November 1, was a happy occasion for the 127 who attended. The exhibits were excellent and were judged by an all-female committee of Marcella Sheldon, Ruth Green and Mrs. Russell Selig. Best in show went to August Hausske for his U.S. type coins; other winners were Richard Rosholm, Ed Gengler and Michael Powells. Master of Ceremonies was Harry Collura. Guest speaker was Maurice G. Martineau, agent in charge of the Milwaukee office of the U.S. Secret Service. The society's editor, Bob Kellner, received a plaque as a token of appreciation for his fine work.

The Cheyenne Coin Club is the only organized numismatic club in Wyoming and after being organized only one year has secured the 1959 convention of the Colorado-Wyoming Numismatic Association to be held in the Plains Hotel, Cheyenne, October, 1959. Definite date to be announced later. With a membership of 165, meetings are held the fourth Thursday of each month at Hospitality House of the Cheyenne Light, Fuel and Power Co. President is E. C. Brockman, 614 Seymour Ave., Cheyenne.

At the November meeting of the Pasadena County Coin Club, coin displays included a complete set of commemorative silver and minor commemorative gold coins, early U.S. cents, a nice collection of mint errors, foreign proof coins, and a set of the more recent Canadian half dollars. In spite of the unusually small attendance a lively informal coin trading session followed the meeting.

The powerful pull of television resulted in a 50 per cent gain in member attendance at the November 12th meeting of the Oregon Trail Coin Club held in the Scottsbluff, Nebraska, national guard armory. It had been announced that the club would view the T.V. program "Money for Sale" which had been supervised by the U.S. Secret Service and dealt with counterfeiting. There was money for sale, too, as the club held its monthly auction at this meeting.

The first open house of the Old Fort Coin Club, held in Fort Wayne, Ind. on November 9, was termed a great success by all concerned. There were 41 exhibits, 28 bourse tables and approximately 700 people; 308 persons who signed the registration blanks expressed a desire to attend one of our meetings. Wilson Pollard won the ribbon for best in show with his display of mint errors.

East Los Angeles Coin Club election was held in November. Results are as follows: president, Hy Spitz; vice president, Walter Holsworth; secretary, Leota McPhail; treasurer, George Blake, Jr. Board of governors, Cornel Christian, Mr. Cannavo, Walter Snyder, Bob Davis.

Muncie Coin and Stamp Club held a banquet at YMCA on November 24 to have formal presentation of National Coin Week Division A first place award for National Coin Week. This was presented by Leo Terry of Indianapolis to Herb Riley, club president. Honored guests were Mayor Tuhey, Mr. Seward of the Muncie Chamber of Commerce, and other guests representing local television stations and newspapers. The club is now holding two meetings a month due to the increased interest and particularly the out-of-town interest. Recently a program was planned on Lincoln and then a social hour followed.

The East Liverpool Coin Club held its sixteenth anniversary meeting November 11 at the YMCA. President Harold Ginder presiding. New officers elected for 1959 are: Everett Heddleston, president; Charles Larcombe, vice president; Oliver A. Miles, secretary-treasurer; Board, Blake Boyd, Clarence Bell, David Thompson. This club has 50 members, with an average of 25 attending each meeting. An all-out drive has been launched for new members. Meetings are on the second Tuesday of each month at the YMCA at 8:00 p.m. Everyone interested in coin collecting is more than welcome to visit. For information, write Oliver A. Miles, 1228 St. George St., East Liverpool, Ohio.

The Northwest Coin Club recently presented to the Archaeology Department of the University of Minnesota 138 electrotypes of ancient Greek coins. The presentation was made by Don Wallace, past president, from whom the coins came. Accepting this gift for the University was Prof. Norman J. DeWitt, whose acceptance speech was a very fine talk on archaeology. The coins will be used for study and display.

At the meeting of the Numismatic Forum of New York October 30, 1958, Prof. Edmund Zygman spoke on historical, linguistic and numismatic ties of Thailand, ethnic blend of Shans (Thai) and Khmers (Cambodians), linguistic hybrid of Chinese and Sanskrit, renaissance of the Ramayana and the present Buddhism, the four eras, the earliest struck coins and the latest issues.

Among the exhibits at the November 19 meeting of the Bergen County Coin Club were colonial coins and bungtown tokens by Ed Black and C. L. Ragot; U.S. coins and currency by Gilbert Hall, Fred Gombash, Abe Stave; Roman coins by John Zamgachian; tokens by Anton Mayer, Aaron White; Canadian mint sets by R. J. Rose.

The October 12 meeting of the South-ern Hub Coin Club heard a eulogy of the late Burton H. Saxton by Clyde Grimm.

President Paul McBride Gillis spoke on military medals before the November 4 meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Numismatic Society; 11 were present. War medals were displayed by Dr. Gillis; Mexican Guatemalan coins and paper money by Jack F. Burns; George V. Edward VII, William and Mary maundy sets by John Kachmer; types complete $5 and $20 gold by Duane Feisel; U.S. obsolete coins by Earl Coatsworth; 10 U.S. and World's Fair medals by John Kennedy, 1cs Ghana, Canadian 1935 $1, Canadian 1935 $2 bill by Prosper DeVos.

Numismatic books were exhibited at the Brooklyn Coin Club's November 5 meeting by Michael Granis, Victor Melnechuck, James Brown, Mrs. Lillian Mar-mor; coin weights from English mint by Roy Hill of San Francisco; U.S. paper money by A. R. Feldman, Irving Vengrove, Thomas Wass; thalers and two-thirds thaler size coins 20th century Egypt, Hanover $\frac{3}{4}$ thaler, Cyprus 25 piastres, by Oscar Susskind; Brussels Fair 50 francs by Sidney Kitzler; Russian three-ruble platinum by Marcel Stilton; \$20 '07 Roman wire edge by M. L. Kaplan.

The Pacific Coast Numismatic Society featured "Other Hobbies, Keepsakes, Treasures or What Have You," at the October meeting. Lewis A. Moorman talked on what other people collect. There were 19 exhibits, one being a handmade book-binding press and two beautifully bound volumes of the Scrap-book Magazine, a "do-it-yourself" project by Dolly and John Ohls. The November meeting featured "Modern European Coins." Edward Gans reviewed his trip through the various countries he visited in Europe this year. He found fine collections in museums and talked with coin dealers who said they were selling only half-heartedly, due to the inflation of their countries. Our members who exhibited at the CSNA convention in Riverside talked about their exhibits. Clifford Liss won first in U.S., featuring the gold lure of 1848 and the gold lure of 1958; Roy Hill, first in specialized; Eric Werling, first with a display of CSNA history, and a second on multiple thalers.

The annual dinner meeting of the Bay Cities Coin Club was held at Brands' Cafe in West Los Angeles, Calif., November 22, 1958. President Emil Conrad presided. Pictures of the recent A.N.A. convention were shown.

A record turnout of 60 members were present at the Liberty Bell Coin Club's new place at Gallaghers Hall, 5324 Rising Sun Ave., Philadelphia. Elected officials for 1959 are: president, Pat Vassalluzzo; first vice president, Don Perri; second vice president, Ralph Siani, Jr.; corresponding secretary, Joseph Weintraub; recording secretary, J. Maguire; assistant secretary, Leo Nacelli; treasurer, Samuel Burgdorf; sergeant-at-arms, Harold Sullivan. Exhibit winner was J. Maguire with his display of Inca gold coins. Interesting talks about the recent M.A.N.A. convention were given by Alex Kaptik and Sam Burgdorf. Our auction results showed a "take" of well over $300, a new club record. The club's resolution concerning a "P" mint mark of future proof coins was adopted by M.A.N.A. with the following additional stipulation: "That all future proof coin sets include a silver dollar." Refreshments were served by Marie Burgdorf and Elizabeth Henninger.

David McClymont showed slides of part of the Chase Manhattan Bank's Money Museum at the 298th meeting of the New Jersey Numismatic Society. W. C. Blaisdel exhibited type set of U.S. minor coins unc.; J. P. Keller, pattern silver dollars; Robert Williams, early halves and loan certificate of Newark, 1862-1863; Herbert Oechsner, early halves, hard times tokens, political medals. Other exhibitors were Charles G. Altz, James Brown.

The 26th meeting of the Newark Coin Club was Canadian night. There were exhibits of coins and paper currency of that country by Charles Altz, Jack Nan-nery, Jack Feierstein, Phil Rosenbaum, George Long, Charles Lehrer, James Brown, R. J. Rose, Gerald Sullivan, Nick Salimbene, Frank Spadone, Daniel Schliam, Anthony Mill.

The November 7 meeting of the Los Angeles Coin Club was attended by 242 people. G. Lee Kuntz showed colored movies he had taken at the recent Los Angeles convention of the A.N.A.; also included were movies of IRBM missiles.

The Tacoma Coin Club will hold a day and a half meeting sometime in January, but the exact date is unknown as we go to press. At the junior club meeting, Miss Jan Stein spoke on Canadian coins and Jack Shemorry talked on American coin values.

ADVERTISERS PLEASE NOTE ALL FOLLOWING CONDITIONS

All correspondence relating to advertising should be addressed to the Advertising Manager, S. W. Freeman, P. O. Box 591, Newport, Ark. Make all remittances payable to the American Numismatic Association.

Advertising Contracts: These are available, covering periods of three, six and twelve consecutive months for display space as listed in the above Table of Rates, and are necessary if the schedule of reduced rates is to apply. If the advertiser prefers not to accept the Contract, such reduced rates will be granted only upon payment in advance for the period desired.

References: All advertisers who submit copy for the first time are definitely requested to furnish therewith banking or other satisfactory references.

Available Space Units: Practical considerations restrict the allocation of space units to those listed in the above table. Any amount of space (subject to any current limitations) is available IF these units or a combination of them are used. Unless contrary instructions are given, copy will be cut if found too full for the space designated; if no designation is made, it shall be understood the amount of space is left to the discretion of the Advertising Manager.

Unless under contract, smaller units than one-half page accepted subject to available space in desired issue.

Deadline: Copy must be received by the Advertising Manager by the 7th of the month to insure insertion in the following month's issue.

Illustrations: All cuts to be provided by the advertisers, care being used to see that they do not exceed in measurement the limits of the space unit desired. The Advertising Manager will, when requested, have suitable cuts made from furnished photographs.

We cannot accept mats.

Miscellaneous: Please furnish copy separately from your letter of transmittal. Advertising copy included in the body of a letter usually has to be retyped for the printer; this should not be required. Mail Bid Sales listing not acceptable. It is also the policy of the magazine to limit its advertisements to those of numismatic character.

Preparation of Copy: Advertising copy should be prepared with minute care. Carelessness invites error — something which both advertiser and publisher are anxious to avoid. Use only one side of the sheet. Send originals, not carbon copies. Use only paper of good quality, and not of extremely light weight.

In the absence of an Advertising Contract, when payment in advance for any number of consecutive months has been made, if change of copy has not been received by the 7th of the month for the next issue, the latest preceding advertisement will be run.

Advertisers may use a trade name, but, except in the case of an incorporated concern, the name of the proprietor or some other responsible person connected with the firm must also appear in the advertisement.

The right to edit copy, to require payment in advance, and to decline any advertisement is specifically reserved.

Because my stock is lower on some of the dates, I will have to reserve the right to proportion sales as necessary. You will notice there are some I need and wish to buy. If you have any for sale, in nice uncirculated condition, I wish you would write me and state your price. We price the coins we have for sale, and think you should enjoy the same privilege. Latin knowledge is not necessary . . . most coins are not expensive! So, go ahead and enjoy this fascinating field!

This new book proves how easy it is to read and date Roman Imperial Coins . . . even for beginners! Without a knowledge of Latin, and without great expense you can become an adept collector of these coins. In 128 pages this clearly written book covers methods for determining dates; explanations and charts which are brief and easy to understand; and, scores of illustrations adjacent to descriptions. Sturdily bound. Gold stamped board cover. Size $5\frac{1}{8} \times 7\frac{3}{4}$ inches. Ask at your hobby dealer.

Complete Set of Coin Notes

May Never Be Offered Again

Here is listed for sale the famous Philpott collection of the popular and rare treasury notes of 1890-91 — took forty years of discriminating "hunting" to get this collection together

WHY ARE the U.S. Treasury or Coin Notes the most popular series with paper currency collectors? (1) They were issued in small quantities, and a large percentage was redeemed during the tight times of the early 1890's, when holders were able to convert this paper into coin (gold and silver). (2) These notes present only 2 series, 2 seals, 5 signature combinations, 8 denominations, and only 36 different notes, including 3 $1000's.

Friedberg's numbers 347 to 378 ($1 to $100) comprise 33 notes. There is listed below these 33 notes all superbly uncirculated except 4. This is the only known complete set in this matchless state to have been collected and owned by any one collector. Without question this collection is the finest set of the Coin Notes, complete. All are rare—many excessively so. More information about this beautiful and rare series may be gleaned by a re-reading of my exhaustive article (showing illustrations of all coin notes, $1 to $100, inclusive) in The Numismatist for December, 1951, pages 1282 to 1291, inclusive.

I have had several offers for these 33 notes as a lot. My preference is to distribute them among collectors who have hard-to-fill gaps. Such a complete holding of coin notes will not come along again soon—if ever. Here is the list, by series, each with its Friedberg number.

SERIES 1890

Rosecrans-Huston, Large Brown Seal

- | | |
|--|-----------|
| 1. $1, Fr. 347, superbly perfect in every way..... | $ 185.00 |
| 2. $2, Fr. 353, of supreme excellence, matching #1..... | 250.00 |
| 3. $5, Fr. 359, so perfect it has a halo..... | 250.00 |
| 4. $10, Fr. 366, couldn't be more desirable..... | 265.00 |
| 5. $20, Fr. 372, beautiful and appealing, except for semblance of one vertical fold, the best one I ever saw, exceedingly rare..... | 500.00 |
| 6. $100, Fr. 377, absolute perfection in the rare "watermelon" note. Many collectors have offered fancy prices for this one— best condition known. Dr. Limpert shows this bill on page 34 of his book on U.S. Paper money—it is as bright and new as the day it left the presses. This note hasn't been offered anywhere at auction in ten years. I expect this unusual item to go quickly and to be hailed with satisfaction by some lucky collector..... | 2,750.00 |

Rosecrans-Nebeker, Large Brown Seal

- | | |
|--|--------|
| 7. $1, Fr. 348, a very rare note in this impeccable condition, rarer than Fr. 347 | 200.00 |
| 8. $2, Fr. 354, a fit companion to #7, two very slight folds show in margins of reverse, but obverse is perfect and dazzling—a rare note..... | 250.00 |

9. $5, Fr. 360, this is the rarest of the seven $5 coin notes, two light vertical creases, otherwise extremely fine — this note is missing in any condition in most collections — best one I have ever been able to acquire — doubt if an uncirculated one exists.....$ 275.00
10. $10, Fr. 367, matchless, couldn't be more desirable, an exceedingly rare note in this exquisite condition..... 350.00
11. $20, Fr. 373, a superbly perfect specimen of this great rarity, not more than half a dozen known, doubtful if an equal exists, front and back plates #1, low serial #87, every collector dreams of finding this number, will go quickly at 750.00

SERIES 1890

Rosecrans-Nebeker, Small Red Scallop Seal

12. $1, Fr. 349, slight fold, invisible except to very close scrutiny, otherwise bright and superior 160.00
13. $2, Fr. 355, superior and perfect in every way, rarest of the six $2 coin notes, difficult to find so excellent..... 275.00
14. $5, Fr. 361, faultlessly perfect, a joy to behold, missing in many collections, particularly in this superb state, the new owner will sing a hymn to this one 350.00
15. $10, Fr. 368, as perfect as if it left the Bureau presses yesterday — one of the very hard-to-get $10's 325.00
16. $20, Fr. 374, superb in every detail, in my opinion equal in rarity and condition to #11 above, missing in many collections, someone will thrill to own this one 550.00

SERIES 1891

Rosecrans-Nebeker, Small Red Scallop Seal

17. $1, Fr. 350, perfect in every way — very bright..... 50.00
18. $2, Fr. 356, a super-superior specimen, serial #4, very rare and desirable 250.00
19. $5, Fr. 362, minute needle and thread hole — hardly discernible, otherwise bright and perfect — best one I ever saw..... 275.00
20. $10, Fr. 369, matches all the other superb $10's in perfection..... 250.00
21. $50, Fr. 376, famous excessively rare Seward note — only $50 denomination of the coin notes — eagerly sought by all paper money collectors. This one is strictly very fine (see it page 34, Dr. Limpert's U. S. Currency book) — from plate #1 (only one plate engraved) and serial is #17510 — nine numbers above Friedberg's illustration, page 81, of his book. My Seward would be classed by some as extremely fine, but because of four light folds I call it very fine only. Friedberg reports 25 of these outstanding. Treasury writes me the number is 23. Only one uncirculated specimen to my knowledge — sold by Kreisberg and Schulman last May 24 at auction (lot #2440) bringing $4500 — and in my opinion well worth it. My specimen should go quickly at 2,750.00
22. $100, Fr. 378, more rare than the "watermelon" note (Fr. 377) in comparable condition. I have only seen three others besides mine — none anywhere near uncirculated — and I have owned a dozen "watermelon" notes. This Fr. 378 is only very fine: seal and serial numbers brilliant red, no creases worth mentioning; but upper corners show slight scorching, as if note had been near a fire. (Mayhap grandpappy hid his roll in a chimney, too near the flame!) Except for these scorch stains (not affecting the design) the note would be extremely fine. Only and best one I have been able to locate in 40 years of "hunting." From plate #1, 5 digit serial, indicating small issue, probably not a half dozen in existence.....$1,750.00

Tillman-Morgan, Small Red Scallop Seal

- | | |
|--|--------|
| 23. $1, Fr. 351, as if fresh off the press..... | 50.00 |
| 24. $2, Fr. 357, as bright and magnificent as #23..... | 200.00 |
| 25. $5, Fr. 363, supremely beautiful and perfect, matching the two notes #23, #24 | 225.00 |
| 26. $10, Fr. 370, couldn't be more perfect or superior..... | 250.00 |
| 27. $20, Fr. 375, without doubt the most perfect one of this great rarity, low serial #33—this note deserves a place in the finest collection—worth much more than I am asking..... | 600.00 |

SERIES 1891

Bruce-Roberts, Small Red Scallop Seal

- | | |
|--|----------|
| 28. $1, Fr. 352, couldn't be better or brighter (rarest $1 of 1891 series)..... | 65.00 |
| 29. $2, Fr. 358, do not come superior or more beautiful..... | 100.00 |
| 30. $5, Fr. 364, perfect beyond compare, very desirable and rare..... | 200.00 |
| 31. $10, Fr. 371, has a crowning excellence to please the most exacting..... | 250.00 |
| 32. $20, Fr. 375-A. This is an exquisitely beautiful specimen—unlisted by Raymond, Grinnell, Limpert, and Friedberg's first edition. (It is truly Fr. 376, but Mr. Friedberg had already assigned this number to the Seward $50 before the Bruce-Roberts $20 was discovered.) Only other one I ever saw was in the Freeman Collection (now owned by Amon Carter, Jr.) and it is not uncirculated. I consider my note as rare a coin note as Fr. 376 or Fr. 378—particularly in this pristine condition. The price quoted is somewhat high for a $20 note—still I feel certain it will be sold before this ad is a week old | 2,000.00 |

Lyons-Roberts, Small Red Scallop Seal

33. $5, Fr. 365, new, crisp, desirable, best one I ever saw—only coin note of any denomination with Lyons-Roberts signature, very rare..... 225.00
- That winds up a currency series which has been closest to my heart for thirty years. I am only consoled by seeing these beautiful notes distributed to discriminating collectors who will own them and show them with pride.

There is only one of each of the above 33 notes. Any duplicates I may have had have long ago been sold. So, the notes here listed will go to the first checks received—and my expectation is that all will be sold within a week of the appearance of this ad.

PLEASE: because there will be a competitive rush for many of these notes, suggest you make out a check for each note. It will then be easy to send items you buy and return checks for any notes which might be gone when your checks arrive. Thanks.

"GOLD COINS OF THE WORLD"

by Robert Friedberg

SPECIAL INTERLEAVED EDITION

PRICE: $22.50

A special interleaved edition has been prepared of this important book which has just been published. (The regular edition is priced at $15.00, and is available through your local coin dealer, book dealer or department store.)

Sheets of high grade ledger paper have been especially printed with a double column of ruled lines to match the format of the pages in the book. These sheets have been painstakingly inserted between each page of an unbound book, thus doubling the size of the book. Because of the great bulk, a special binding has been created, using a double section of steel rings and permitting this large volume to lie flat when opened.

This interleaved edition can be used by collectors as a record and inventory of their collections and by dealers for the same purpose, as well as for maintaining collectors' want lists. All sorts of pertinent information can be kept on the interleaved sheets. Many other uses will suggest themselves to the inquiring mind.

Only 250 copies have been prepared of this interleaved edition. No more copies can be made since the entire First Edition of "Gold Coins of the World" has now been bound.

"PAPER MONEY OF THE UNITED STATES"

by Robert Friedberg

The Second Edition of this popular book has now been exhausted and the book is temporarily out of print.

A Third Edition is now in preparation and should be published about March, 1959.

The valuations will be brought up to date, and the book itself will be considerably enlarged by additional full data on National Bank Notes.

GREETINGS

for the

NEW YEAR

Thanks for your fine patronage during the Year 1958 and I hope I may be able to serve you often during 1959.

With my many years in this field, having worked side by side with the late B. MAX MEHL for over forty years, I KNOW I can serve you to your entire satisfaction whether you are buying coins or whether you wish to sell your collection or any part of it. Why don't you write me NOW? You have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

Again, I wish you much happiness and success in this year ahead of us.

JOHNSON'S APPROVAL SHIPMENTS

Hundreds of satisfied customers have found "Johnson's Approval Shipments" the easy, convenient way to build up their coin collections.

If you can make monthly payments of $10.00 or more, then we are in business. Just send me a list of the coins you need in any series: Half Cents to Gold coins, Paper Money, Foreign Silver Dollars, etc. Or a list of the coins you now have, if more convenient.

On receiving your list, I will send different coins on approval. You then return any you do not want to keep, and make payments of $10.00 or more a month on coins retained. As you make payments, I will send more coins.

You will find that "Johnson's Approval Shipments" bring you the best coin values you can get.

If you have no special series in mind, why not start on a TYPE SET of Commemorative Half Dollars? This is a beautiful collection, of interesting Half Dollars depicting important historical events. Due to increasing scarcity, these coins are going up in value all the time, and are a good investment in addition to being the most popular series in U. S. coins. I would like to send an album with your first shipment, so you can keep the coins protected from handling and in neat order.

Send me your list now, and your first approval shipment will come by return mail. Join the hundreds of collectors who are building up their collections with "Johnson's Approval Shipments."

Am breaking up nice collections of U. S. Silver Dollars, Half Dollars, Nickels, Foreign Silver Dollars, a choice collection of Canadian coins. Please send want list.

I WANT TO BUY — Commemorative Half Dollars and other nice coins or collections. I buy and sell on close margin, and you are assured of a fair deal whether buying or selling. Send me the coins you want to sell, by registered mail or railway express. I will look them over and send you my best offer and check, then will hold coins for your reply. If no deal, I will return coins and no harm done.

A Treasury of Information in a Single Volume

- Each coin type is identified by catalog number, denomination, date or dates of issue.
- Estimated value is shown for each type and denomination.
- Covers coins of all coin-issuing countries in the world in all metals issued during approximately the last 100 years.
- Coins are chronologically listed, and grouped by metallic content, type and denomination.

One of the most comprehensive books of its kind for coin collectors. The vast number of illustrations accompanied by informative descriptions makes this latest book by Mr. R. S. Yeoman especially appropriate for all collectors, beginners and experienced. Only $4.00 at hobby dealers.

For The First Time in the History of Mankind: World Gold Currency Issued!

The Institute for International Gold currency has proposed to the Treasuries of all nations the minting of a common goldpiece "Aureus Magnus" (the Big Gold). Its issue will protect the peoples of the world from loss through the depreciation of paper money and promote their union.

Independent of the replies from the Governments, the Institute has commenced the issue of Aureus Magnus. The issues are limited to 2000 pieces. Their acquisition might be an investment of increasing value. Each Aureus Magnus is illustrated in its original size and is as follows:

10 Ducats, weight 35 gr.	$ 62.00
20 Ducats, weight 70 gr.	124.00
30 Ducats, weight 105 gr.	186.00
(One ounce weighs 31,1 gr.)

The diameter remains the same, the strength is doubled or tripled. The obverse indicates the commemorative purpose of the piece. The reverse is always the same and bears a six-pointed Lilycross as a sign of its world-value and world-unity. The inscriptions are in Latin. Numismatists may acquire not more than one piece of each issue as a collector's item—also at the most all 8 pieces single, double and triple = 24 pieces. Single pieces will be supplied.

Coined in European state mints, gold content always 980/1000, nearly pure! Brilliant proof!

The mailing will be at our expense as Registered Letter by Air Mail, but if there are any customs duties in the United States for the importation the customer has to pay them at delivery.

DEALERS AND AUCTIONEERS OF ANCIENT AND FOREIGN coins and medals

We mail monthly illustrated price lists free on request.

ARE YOU ON OUR MAILING LIST?

WE ARE MOVING

To the Heart of Manhattan

Yes, we are moving again. This time we are opening a shop in the heart of Manhattan at 4 West 47th St. near 5th Ave. in the National Jewelry Exchange (an interesting place in itself) on the ground floor.

We are pleased to invite you, when you are in New York City, to our shop. Our specialty is Gold Coins and Nineteenth Century copper and silver coins. We will have nice selections on hand, always competitively priced.

We are always anxious to buy — we want material and we will pay strongly. Please write us detailing what you have to offer in copper and silver. State a fair figure and we should make a deal. Of course if you come to New York City, drop in for a social or business chat.

★ GOLD — BUYING AND SELLING ★

We try to pay the highest advertised prices for gold at all times. Any quantity wanted, one to hundreds, cash mailed immediately upon receipt of your coins, via insured or registered mail.

If at any time, you can show us that other dealers are paying more than our advertised prices, we will make every effort to meet all competition.

NOW PAYING AS FOLLOWS — CONDITION VF PLUS

$1.00 Gold paying	$13.00	$5.00 Gold paying	$10.25

2.50 Liberty paying	12.75	20.00 Gold paying	38.50
3.00 Gold paying	55.00

We need scarce and rare gold and will pay very well for premium Gold. Send your premium gold pieces for our scrutiny. We will air-mail, immediately, our check for our top offer and put coins aside for immediate return if you aren't fully satisfied. We feel confident that you will be pleased with our offer.

JUST ONE MAN'S OPINION

The Carson City Dollars are the most underpriced series of all coins minted.

All one has to do is check the number minted of each year and you will see that there will never be enough to supply our five (5) million or more (est.) collectors.

Take the 1885 with only 228,000 minted. This would be one for about every twenty-one collectors.

Second comes the 1881 with only 296,000 and so on.

I have a few sets of the 1880 through 1885 complete in Strictly Brilliant Uncirculated.

For set of six (6) . . . $21.95

Below are my prices for single coins . . . all Brilliant Uncirculated

1878-CC Proof Surface . $ 6.00	1882-CC Brill. Unc. $ 4.00	1889-CC Brill. Unc. $90.00
1879-CC Proof Surface . 20.00	1883-CC Brill. Unc. 4.00	1890-CC Proof Surface . 6.00
1880-CC Brill. Unc. 6.00	1884-CC Brill. Unc. 4.00	1890-CC Brill. Unc. 4.50
1881-CC Brill. Unc. 5.00	1885-CC Brill. Unc. 5.00	1891-CC Brill. Unc. 4.50
1882-CC Proof Surface . 5.50	1885-CC Proof Surface . 7.00	1892-CC Brill. Unc. 5.50

Please keep in mind that I guarantee every dollar I sell to be Strictly Brilliant Uncirculated.

Money back guarantee plus return postage if not pleased.

My second offering for this month is, in my opinion, a small set with a future.

The War Time Silver Nickel consisting of 11 coins minted 1942 to 1945 (see Red Book). This set in Brilliant Uncirculated is beautiful and also underpriced in this booming coin market.

My price for the complete set is . . . $5.50

Only until present stock is sold. (5.50)

The 1943-D is of course in this set and this is one that I compare in value to the 1942-D which is selling today for $4.50 each. Custom built plastic holder for this set — only $2.50

★ SPECIAL — $1.00 Value Pocket Folding Magnifier, genuine leather case —

UNITED STATES SILVER DOLLARS — ALL UNCIRCULATED

These are today's best buys when all other coins are very high in price. Many are far older and far rarer than Lincoln Cents, but still selling Unc. for double face. What Lincoln Cents can you buy for double face, or any other coin for that matter. Better buy while the price is still low. These have light mars, as all dollars seem to, but are all carefully selected copies. Maybe a few Cents higher, but worth it.

Useful for cleaning all kinds of coins, but particularly adapted to cleaning coins of copper or nickel.

EASY TO USE AND ECONOMICAL!
FAST ACTION — IT ACTUALLY CLEANS IN SECONDS!

Does not add shine, but brings out natural color, including original brilliance if it is still there under tarnish or coating. Dull or dark uncirculated coins become brilliant uncirculated coins in seconds.

This result of years of experiment can be safely used on valuable coins to improve their appearance and increase their value.

On sale in many leading stores in 4-oz. bottles, with full directions, at $1.00.

If your dealer does not yet have it, send us $1.00 for 3-oz. bottle (enough to clean hundreds of coins) carefully packed and postpaid to any address in the United States or Canada.

SCARCE FOREIGN COINS —

There is relatively little demand for run-of-the-mill foreign coins. But for scarce foreign material there is a sustained and growing market. You'll find a wide range of desirable crowns and scarce minor coins in my bi-weekly lists. And if you have a collection of worth-while foreign coins to dispose of you'll find me an informed and appreciative buyer.

MODERN FOREIGN COINS

A full page advertisement might tell you something about my stock, but right now my new 1959 Annual Stock List is ready, and I would rather send you this list so you can see the "whole works" for yourself.

This list contains something of interest to nearly every collector of foreign coins—lots of minor (my specialty), some crowns, a few foreign banknotes, and a lot of new and recent issues.

No pretty pictures (sorry!) and it is only a multilithed list, and you might not find it interesting, but since you may have a copy by sending a postal card, what can you lose? I issue regular monthly lists, too, and all buyers receive them as released.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR to all of you!

JAPANESE SILVER BAR MONEY

Ichi-Bu Gin and ¼ Bu-Gin. These pieces were struck from 1818 to 1864 and circulated in the silver mining areas. As they were not considered a National Coinage, they are not listed in the conventional catalogues. The pair airmailed for $2.00, two pair $3.50. Excellent for making unique cuff links. Also have packet of 23 odd Japanese coins airmailed for $1.25.
